Improvement to Village Water System

$200,000 Bond OK for Ellenville

By JON POWERS

ELLENVILLE — The Ellenville village attorney received the official approval Monday night to draw up a $200,000 bond authorization to cover needed repairs and improvements for the village water system.

By a 3-0 vote, with two members absent, the Board of Trustees approved a nine-point preliminary program designed to relieve what Village Manager Lawrence E. Eyres terms an "emergency situation."

The program, originally recommended by Village Engineer Aaron Horowitz, includes the replacement or repair of wells, pumps and piping at several areas within the system.

It was estimated that the top priority item in the program, the laying of pipe from the Fallsview well field to Segal Drive will be completed within two months.

In urging passage of the bond authorization, Eyres noted that the reservoir is still dropping and that an emergency still exists. He added that two wells within the system have lost their water-producing efficiency over the past several years and that, currently, water is being used in the village faster than it can be pumped.

It was noted that the village water situation has not noticeably improved since the summer's end, a point that had been predicted in the aftermath of the July water crises. Additionally, it was learned that at times since that crisis the village has been operating with only one well and that the Lake Maratanza outlet will not be available once colder weather sets in.

In emphasizing the urgency of immediate action on the bond authorization by village trustees, Eyres stated that he wished to be "removed of any responsibility if the system breaks down should the board delay further action."

It was later explained that the bond authorization would not immediately affect water rates within the village and it was added that the needed repairs might not cost as much as $200,000. If the cost of the project is for a lesser amount, with a report that the village then the village will purchase bonds only for the amount of the federal surveys.

Recent census figures released for the Village of Ellenville were the subject of some discussion later in the meeting with Eyres informing the Board that he had contacted the State Conference of Mayors residents is a scant 27 more because of the population decline. He cited a bill now under consideration in Albany out of the woodwork. Some

Last Holdouts Are Removed From City Jail

NEW YORK (UPI)—Forty-one prisoners, the last holdouts among rebellious inmates who rioted in five city jails starting last Thursday, were removed by fire ladder from the Long Island City House of Detention in Queens early today.

Observers, including Dr. Howard Levy, accompanied them to another prison at Riker's Island to insure that they were not manhandled. Levy was an Army doctor who was court-martialed and convicted for refusing to train Special Forces troops.

The prisoners were brought down from the sixth floor of the building in groups of three on a 75-foot "cherry picker," a move to keep them in full view of newsmen and spectators to prevent beatings that guards inflicted on several prisoners who surrendered early Monday—some of them while they were handcuffed. Officials agreed to the strange evacuation because guards would have had to break through four barricaded steel doors to end the seizure.

Prisoners rioted at lunchtime Thursday and seized seven hostages to demand judicial reform and better prison conditions. The disturbances spread to four other jails and a total of 28 hostages were held. At the Kew Gardens Jail in Queens a prisoner was found dead of an overdose of drugs.

At Queens the trouble continued longest. Three hostages still were held early Monday, but were released after a warning from Mayor John V. Lindsay.

Lindsay, who had met earlier with inmates at the Tombs in Manhattan, then met with the Queens prisoners and said they had legitimate grievances. The holdout prisoners removed today include nine of the 13 Black Panthers on trial on charges of conspiring to bomb public buildings. The trial, which is in the jury selection phase, was recessed Monday. State Supreme Court Justice John M. Murtagh said the defendants were absent "for reasons beyond our control."

Three attorneys for the Panthers — Gerald Lefcourt, William Crain and Sanford Katz — negotiated the fire ladder evacuation in a conference with Corrections Commissioner George F. McGrath, Lindsay's press secretary Tom Morgan, Deputy Mayor Richard Aurelio and the mayor's special legal counsel Michael Dantzin.

Besides Levy, the observers selected by the prisoners to accompany them on two buses included a city councilman, a Presbyterian minister, a black physician, a lawyer and a state senator.

Security was tight at Riker's Island and newsmen were kept out.

McGrath said an investigation had begun of Monday's beatings of surrendering prisoners. Aurelio said the mayor was looking into the situation.

On Monday, when the institution's other inmates surrendered, newsmen watching from a vantage point said they saw inmates beaten and kicked by guards. One guard claimed that fighting had been started by some of the prisoners.

COMING DOWN—Three of the 41 holdout inmates stand in fire department "Cherry Picker" as they start the ride down at the Queens House of Detention. The prisoners were the last of the rebellious inmates who seized seven hostages last Wednesday. The inmates agreed to come down the ladder to keep them in view of friends and newsmen to prevent beatings that guards inflicted on other inmates who surrendered earlier in the day. They were taken by buses to another prison. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Driverless Car and a Kingston Boy Killed

By WALTER S. CLARK

KINGSTON — A four-year-old boy was fatally injured at 4:20 p.m. Monday when he was run over by a driverless car owned by his mother after the suburban vehicle rolled backwards in the driveway at the child's home.

Police said the victim of the accident was Steven Hill of 223 Catherine Street, this city.

Ulster County Coroner William S. Keyser, who investigated with city police, said preliminary examination of the boy's body indicated that death resulted from asphyxia due to a crushing blow by the automobile. He withheld a formal verdict pending X-ray reports.

According to investigators, the child had been playing in the yard at the back of his home just off Sycamore Street, when the unoccupied vehicle rolled backwards on a downgrade. The boy was found within a short time with the left front wheel resting on him.

The car was moved and the boy was removed. Fatum's Ambulance Service responded to a call and attendants, Frank Meanwhile, Thruway State Police investigated a traffic accident that occurred on the superhighway about 11 miles south of Kingston in the Town of New Paltz at about 4 p.m. yesterday.

A Dutchess County couple suffered injuries when their car went out of control and over-turned coming to a stop on its wheels.

Monty Penkower, 28, of Annandale, told authorities he was northbound accompanied by his 25-year-old wife, Yael, veered out of control and flipped over after a tire blew out. The injured were taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctors Ambulance Service. Neither was seriously injured, it was reported.

Another highway accident investigated by Trooper S. J. MacGonigle of Leeds involved a car driven by Walter F. Byrne, 22, of Tannersville. The car was northbound on Route 214, Town of Hunter, when it left the pavement and hit a tree. Byrne, who said an oncoming car forced him off the road, suffered lacerations and contusions.

They Just Stood There — And Two Died in Tornado

SHAWNEE, Okla. (UPI)—Seconds before the disaster, Bob Brackeen and Jes Ikard hid under a desk.

John, 30, and Roy Lee Coats, 23—believed to be brothers—and Charles Brodt just stood there.

Then the southwest wall of the building housing Brackeen's automobile showroom collapsed showering down tons of debris and concrete.

The Coats brothers were two of the three persons killed here Monday when a tornado ravaged the city's business district, cut a three-mile swath up through Shawnee's newest school building and then skipped 15 miles to the northeast where it descended again on Prague and killed one other person.

The third victim was Mrs. Allen Roberts, 25, killed in her home just before the tornado lifted skyward three miles from where it first touched ground.

At Brackeen's showroom Brodt survived the ordeal, which lasted less than half a minute, relatively unscathed.

"Everything just fell down on us," he said. "But somehow it missed me."

Both Brackeen and Ikard were buried under six feet of concrete but managed to survive. It took 60 volunteers and National Guardsmen 45 minutes to dig them out. Rescue workers were blocked by the rubble from moving in heavy equipment and each piece of concrete had to be removed by hand.

To get the body of Lee Roy Coats, firemen had to cut through a window, a metal roof that had collapsed and finally two 1971 model automobiles.

The storm struck so suddenly, officials could not warn residents with the siren.

"We were getting ready to push the button when it hit," Police Capt. W. T. Buckmaster said. "It knocked that out too, so we didn't sound it."

The City Hall is now a four-story skeleton that looks about ready to collapse. The police have condemned the building. A radio tower dangles from the roof to between the second and the third story of the building.

Volunteer Committee Role

A Chest Talk for Rotary

KINGSTON associate general campaign chairman will address the Kingston Rotary Club at the weekly luncheon meeting Oct. 7, at 12:15 at the Governor Clinton Hotel in Kingston. The efforts to have a member of the Chest's

Volunteer Cabinet address the Rotarians were consummated through James Whaley, general manager of Kingston Radio Station WBAA and program chairman for the Rotary Club for the last quarter of this year. Petro is a member of the Kingston Rotary Club, and is employed by the State of New York National Bank of Kingston. He will address his fellow Rotarians on all aspects of the Ulster County Community Chest including its previous and future growth. In his current position on the Chest Cabinet, Petro is next in line to serve the Chest as general campaign chairman, the position currently held by Anthony Triulzi. The one time city of Kingston Treasurer under the Garraghan administration has long been associated with civic and community work.

Whaley said that he believes in the Community Chest of Ulster County, and feels that the Rotary Club will provide a fine audience to Petro's remarks. Kamper and Garland are constantly seeking avenues of exposure to the members of the Volunteer Chest Cabinet, through all press media throughout the areas served by the Ulster County Community Chest. "Service Clubs such as Kingston Rotary provide a group of people interested in their community, and their familiarity with the Chest, on a first-hand basis provides excellent community orientation," the co-chairman said.

FULL SUPPORT — Wilfred 'Bud' Springer, (L), executive director of the newly formed Ulster County Blood Bank, presents data on the Bank to Robert C. Johnson, president of the R. Corning Johnson Construction Company recently, as Johnson enrolled 100 per cent of his employees in the Blood Bank program. The construction firm is one of the first companies in the county to join the Bank with 100 per cent participation, said Springer, who noted that the firm is underwriting the employees' enrollment fee and first year's annual dues. The goal of the new bank is the enrollment of 4,000 members from among residents and workers in Ulster County by Nov. 1. All that is required to join is a $2 fee and $1 annual dues along with the agreement to donate blood when called, to receive protection for themselves and their dependents. (Photo by Powell.)

Woodstock Area Campaign Rolls

WOODSTOCK It was announced today by Peter W. Rakov, manager of Sales Promotion at Rotron Incorporated in Woodstock, and chairman of the 1970 Ulster County Community Chest campaign in the Woodstock and West Hurley area, that the fund raising drive is getting into high gear in that area. At a recent meeting held at the main Rotron plant on Route 375 in Woodstock, the men who will be responsible for the Special Gifts and Retail Division drives in the Woodstock-West Hurley area were given their assignments by Rakov, and those fund raising efforts are now under way. According to Chairman Rakov, the Ulster County Community Chest goal for 1970 in the Woodstock-West Hurley area is $11,000, and the Rotron official said that his workers will do everything possible to see that the 1970 goal is at least reached, if not exceeded.

Chairman Rakov said that at present there are well over 200 Special Gifts and Retail Division accounts in the Woodstock-West Hurley area, and then named those who will be responsible for soliciting the accounts: Hank Clark, Vincent Calendo, John Cooper, Roger Duke, John Ebbs, Mrs. William Fisher, Theodore Geertsema, Gregory Gebert, Jack Gibson, Arthur Hansen, Dwight Harris, Richard Hayjee, Stanley Lash, Ralph Perry, Walter Rhodes, Alan Simmons, and Leonard Waters.

Besides Chairman Rakov and the Special Gifts and Retail Division solicitors from the Woodstock-West Hurley area, there were also two staff members from the Ulster County Community Chest office who were sent to the meeting by the Chest's Executive Director, Richard Vendettoli, to assist Rakov. Those attending the meeting from the Chest office were Jack Marquardt, the Ulster County Community Chest's Director of Public Information, and Edward Schrick who is in charge of Community Relations for the Chest staff, and who will be assisting Chairman Rakov in this year's fund drive.

According to Chairman Rakov, the Ulster County Community Chest fund effort in both the Special Gifts and the Retail Division will continue in the Woodstock-West Hurley area until Oct. 23, and that a major, house-to-house drive throughout the area will begin on Monday, Oct. 26. Rakov urged everyone in the Woodstock-West Hurley area to consider giving their fair share to the 1970 Ulster County Community Chest fund effort, and he added that only if that fair share is given, will the Community Chest be able to attain its county-wide goal of $400,000.

Local River Span Tops 200,000 Mark

POUGHKEEPSIE The Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge went over the 200,000 vehicle mark for the month of September, according to figures released by the New York State Bridge Authority, headquartered at the Mid-Hudson Bridge in Poughkeepsie.

The Kingston span showed a total of 202,070 for last month compared to 192,553 for September of last year. That represents a percentage increase of 4.9 and a revenue increase of $1,468.

The traffic and revenue leader continues to be the Newburgh-Beacon Bridge, opened only four years ago. The bridge at Beacon showed a total of 540,100 vehicles for last month compared to 464,275 for September of 1969, a percentage increase of 16.3.

Traffic on the Mid-Hudson Bridge grew at the lowest rate, 2.97, increasing from 459,807 in September of 1969 to 473,480 last month.

The Rip Van Winkle Bridge in Catskill showed a healthy increase from 160,479 last September to 180,006 for September of this year.

Overall, the five bridges, which also include the Bear Mountain Bridge, increased their traffic by 148,413 vehicles last month compared to September of last year for a total of 1,633,696 and a revenue total, last month, of $450,373.

The totals for the first nine months of 1970 show 13,515,745 vehicle crossings for a total revenue of $3,666,512.

Blood Drawing Set for Paltz On Thursday

The New Paltz, Gardiner, Ardonia Blood Bank will hold a drawing on Thursday, Oct. 8 at 7 p.m. at the V.F.W. Hall on Route 208 at New Paltz.

Dr. Harri Janssen, chairman of the Bank, commented on widespread confusion throughout the community in regard to the coexistence of a local bank and the recent formation of the Ulster County Blood Bank Inc. He emphasized that the new organization is not intended to replace the established blood banks but has entirely different functions.

While certain areas in the county such as New Paltz and Saugerties have managed to meet the blood requirements of their restricted areas, enough communities in the county have failed to make adequate provisions with the end result of a nearly chronic blood shortage at the hospitals in the county. The Ulster County Blood Bank Inc. will serve as a form of insurance program for its participating members.

The New Paltz, Gardiner, Ardonia Blood Bank represents a voluntary organization under the sponsorship of the Veterans of Foreign Wars providing blood on the request of the needy without fee or any restriction other than that the recipient be a resident of the geographical area.

The local bank has managed to meet the community's needs for nearly 11 years. However, the credits are running low and the population of the area has continued to grow while old reliable donors have either passed the upper limits of age requirements or have moved away. An urgent appeal is being made to spend a modicum of time on Oct. 8 to provide a major service.

Further details are available by contacting Mrs. Robert Corey in New Paltz, Mr. Anthony Liucci in Gardiner or Dr. Janssen.

UCCC to Have Disadvantaged Help Role

STONE RIDGE Ulster County Community College will be one of 10 colleges sending representatives to Albany for sessions dealing with Vocational Education for the Disadvantaged.

Through this cooperative program for Occupational Teachers of the Disadvantaged, UCCC will send seven representatives in two separate groups for three weeks of special training in the vocational areas.

"This particular project should prove to be one of the most important undertakings for in-service training of faculty for the 1970-71 academic year," said Dean of Faculty Robert J. Markes. "and students are bound to benefit from it as well."

James R. Hadley, chairman of the Division of Engineering Technologies, is the UCCC coordinator for the program.

One group from UCCC will include Neil N. Whitehurst, chairman of the Division of Business; Walter Hopkins, Professor of Engineering Technologies; and Miss Jean Miles, assistant director of admissions.

The second group includes Hadley, Terry L. Parmenter, chairman of the Department of Retailing and Business Administration; Mrs. Florence Irwin, chairman of the Department of Nursing Education; A UCCC student, Fernandez King, of Mountain Road, Samsonville, a freshman mechanical technology major, also will be a member of this group.

During the first week, the groups will determine experimental interests in humanistic education. They will deal with achievement motivation with focus on interpersonal relations.

In the second week, the groups will go into strength training development and how teachers come across in class. For the final week, members of the groups will look at their own campuses and consider changes that can be made for the following year.

The groups will meet at the Center for Humanistic Education Retreat House at the former Erastus Corning estate in Albany.

The other nine colleges participating include Corning Community College, Fulton Institute of Technology, East Montague Community College, Jamestown Community College, Nassau Community College, the Urban Center in Brooklyn, Westchester Community College, Cobleskill Agricultural and Technical College and Jefferson Community College.

Jail Physician Resolution Expected Thursday

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON—A resolution calling for the appointment of a jail physician has been filed with the Ulster County Legislature even though a firm commitment still has to be received from a doctor before the Legislature can vote on the matter at its Thursday meeting.

Clifford Snyder, (R-Dist. 1) chairman of the Sheriff's Committee who is submitting the resolution, did not disclose the name of the physician. A pending meeting of his committee and the doctor concerned.

Ulster County has been without a jail physician since July when Dr. Sidney Pauker resigned his position after many years of service.

In the interim, prisoners at the jail needing medical care have been taken to either of the two city hospitals. Such procedure has resulted in Sheriff William B. Martin's asking for $5,000 to take care of the hospital and ambulance bills already submitted and for future bills.

Presently the jail hospital account is $1,182.18 overdrawn.

Snyder, in a second resolution asks that the $5,000 be transferred from the contingency fund to the jail hospital account. The Legislators, who meet in the County Office Building on Fair Street will go into session at 4 p.m.

Thomas E. McElrath is expected to address the board regarding County-wide licensing of electrical contractors and Wilfred G. Springer, executive director of the Ulster County Blood Bank will speak concerning the work of his organization.

After a recess during the dinner hour, the legislature will reconvene to act on resolutions which include:

- Authorization of an agreement between the County of Ulster and the Organization of Administrative Personnel of Ulster County Community College.

- Approval of additional monies for the 1970-71 UCCC budget to accommodate the aforementioned agreement.

- Setting a date for a public hearing on a local law to provide for a partial tax exemption of real property owned by certain persons with limited income who are 65 years of age or older. The measure results from legislation which was introduced by Assemblyman H. Clark Bell and passed by the New York State Legislature earlier this year.

- Appointment of Brinner and Larios as engineers for the purpose of providing all engineering services necessary for the construction of the new pumping station and water storage tank at Golden Hill in the City of Kingston.

- Approval of a $210,000 bond issue for construction of the new pumping station.

- Increasing salaries of the county judge, surrogate, and family court judges commensurate with state aid.

- Make an agreement regarding eminent domain for condemnation purposes.

- Awarding of a contract for reconstruction of Boice's Lane.
- Authorizing the temporary use of county owned lands, in particular, part of the Ulster County Court House parking driveway area by the Kingston Savings Bank.

- Approval of a bid for the printing of Ulster County Winter Vacationland brochures.

- Approval of a study by the Public Health Committee of group policy hospital insurance coverage versus individual policy hospital insurance coverage.

- Setting of standards of conduct for officers and employees of Ulster County.
- Changing grade classifications in the sheriff department.

Up in the Sky—It Was a Celestial Phenomenon

By JEAN F. DOLAN

KINGSTON—A pre-dawn celestial phenomenon which lit up the skies over Ulster County has been explained.

The eerie bright light which assumed geometric designs of giant proportions awed area early risers Monday morning. Although there was varied speculation as to the cause, the scientific reason rests with a cloud experiment launched to study the earth's magnetic field.

A barium cloud ejected from a rocket lit up the star stung sky all along the Eastern seaboard. According to Associated Press reports from Wallops Island, Va., sightings came in from as far north as Portland, Me., as far south as Jacksonville, Fla., and as far west as Indianapolis, Ind.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said a cooperative experiment by NASA and the Max Planck Institute of Munich, Germany was launched on a four-stage Javelin rocket at 5:05 a.m.

A number of local residents reported sighting the spectacular sky lighting. Donald Ross of High Falls kept a detailed report as the bright formation passed through the skies over Ulster County.

He first sighted the cloud as a diamond shaped formation "75 degrees above the horizon, about 15 degrees in angle from head to tail," the brilliant white object "15 degrees north of due East," according to Ross. About 10 minutes later the shape and location changed to a bright arrow 60 degrees above the horizon.

At 5:36 a.m. the cloud was 45 degrees above the horizon, the tail of the arrow no longer clearly visible and the triangular shape sharply defined only on the southerly edge. The light began to fade as the object hovered at a 40 degree angle above the horizon between 5:41 and 5:53 a.m. By 6:09 a.m. the cloud was almost indistinct and by 6:17 a.m. it was gone.

Ross estimated that the cloud was half way between "Orion's Belt and the body of the Big Dipper constellations" as it was visible in local skies. The morning was absolutely clear and all the stars were particularly brilliant in the pre-dawn hour.

While the cloud appeared as a bright white light locally, colorful aspects were reported elsewhere. A spokesman for NASA said the artificial cloud appeared light green, tinged with red when first ejected from the rocket.

"As the barium became ionized by solar radiation, the ionized cloud became attached to the earth's magnetic field to form an elongated pattern several miles long," he said. Sun's rays were said to have given the colorful illumination to the cloud.

Fatal Explosion in Beacon Was Felt Over Wide Area

By WALTER S. CLARK

CHELSEA—A terrific explosion at the Legion Fireworks Company plant on Chelsea Road in the Dutchess County township of Wappinger on Monday, touched off a fire that killed the owner of the business and destroyed two small frame buildings.

The blast in one building virtually rocked the area for hundreds of yards around.

Killed in the explosion and fire was 75-year-old Joseph Chiarella of 33 Cross Street, Beacon, who had operated the business in southern Dutchess county for many years.

Fishkill State Police and the sheriff's staff conducted an investigation.

County Medical Examiner Dr. Chester H. Golding of Wappinger Falls went to the scene and pronounced Chiarella dead. Dr. Golding ruled the death accidental.

According to investigators,

Chiarella apparently was mixing chemicals used in the manufacture of fireworks when building on the property.

Two ambulances were dispatched to the scene after first reports indicated several persons had been injured. It was later learned on arrival of police and firefighters from the Chelsea Fire Department that Chiarella was alone in the building at the time.

Firemen battled the blaze for about an hour and prevented the flames from spreading to other small structures.

It was reported that a trailer home some distance from the fireworks plant was shaken and damaged by the blast.

Ellenville Woman Helps Solve Burglary

ELLENVILLE

A burglary at an apartment at 46 Warren Street reported to police Monday afternoon was solved by the woman resident who trailed a man suspect to Montgomery and recovered the loot.

Police were notified that someone had entered the home of Caroline Scruggs at the Warren Street address and had taken a radio valued at $110 and a ring. Later it was discovered that a watch belonging to Michael Miller of the same address was missing.

The woman learned from a neighbor that two men in a white station wagon had been seen entering the Scruggs went to Montgomery last night to apartment earlier in the af and saw the owner of the he gave to the woman. He

to Modern

Home Comfort
... is OIL HEAT

Many people have no idea the tremendous progress that has been made in development of oil-heating equipment and components designed to provide total home comfort.

Modern Oil Heat operates at extremely low cost, due to its exceptional efficiency.

Modern Oil Heat keeps the temperature in each room at a steady, even level regardless of outside conditions.

Modern Oil Heat operates with incredible dependability, rarely requires servicing and adjustment.

If you are a prospective new-home builder or about to purchase an older home, be sure it has an oil-heating system.

If your present system is old and costing more than you think it should, or not producing satisfaction to modern standards, talk to your local heating-oil supplier. He'll give you the full facts about either low cost modernization (perhaps a quick simple adjustment is all that is needed!) . . . or a conversion if you are now using a more expensive fuel.

You may be surprised at how economical it is to modernize or convert your present heating system . . . and conveniently financed, too!

Saugerties Village Board Gets Complaints on Water

SAUGERTIES who is fire commissioner reported that the State Board of Fire Underwriters representatives had been in the village that day and inspected village fire apparatus. He noted that everything was in order. He also said they were conducting tests of the various phases of the village water system.

Daniel Boccardi, secretary of Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce said he received a letter of praise for the display of flowers throughout the village, arranged by the Department of Public Works.

The trustees granted permission to the CVO of St. Mary of the Snow Church to use Donlon Auditorium Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 12 noon for recreational purposes.

Prior to the regular meeting, Mayor Cornelius M. Cox opened bids for No. 2 fuel oil for village buildings for a period ending May 31, 1971. Kingston Oil Company was the low bidder with 149, and was awarded the contract. Other bidders were Ballard Oil Company, Kingston, 161 and Amos Post Inc., Catskill, 152.

Trustee Vernon Joe Benjamin, who is police commissioner reported that he had received a letter of resignation from Patrolman David Darling, effective Nov. 1. Darling passed the state police test and starts at State Police School on Nov. 1. His resignation was accepted with regret.

Benjamin also said that "no dumping" signs have been posted at Cantine Island where garbage has been dumped recently. He said the situation would be under close police surveillance.

Fare Boost For Buses in Orange County

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Mohawk Operating Co., Inc., will increase its fares Sunday for intrastate bus service in Rockland and Orange Counties, the Public Service Commission announced today.

The company is unusual in that while it holds operating authority for bus service between the New Jersey state line and Newburgh, it neither owns nor operates any vehicles.

Mohawk operating has arrangements with Mohawk Coach Lines, Inc., an affiliate, to provide the New York intrastate service on Mohawk Coach interstate buses operated between New York City and Hyde Park via New Jersey.

In 1969 Mohawk Operating reported a loss of $400 and has presented to the PSC data showing that without a fare increase its operating loss in the next year will be about $3,540. The new tariff calls for increases ranging from five to 20 cents depending on the distance. The increase is expected to produce $3,100 in additional revenue.

Spiro Praised By Chancellor At Rochester

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—The chancellor of the University of Rochester Monday praised Vice President Spiro T. Agnew as a friend of universities, and criticized the President's Commission on Campus Unrest.

Chancellor W. Allen Wallis found fault with news coverage of Agnew, remarking, "Only occasionally do I read the full text of the vice president's speeches."

He claimed that Agnew's speeches, when read in their entirety, reveal the Vice President as a defender of "freedom of thought and expression, and devotion to reason."

Most of Wallis' remarks to financial analysts meeting in Rochester were directed against the presidential commission. He accused the group of "managing the news", noting that the commission addressed the first section of its recent report on campus unrest "over the president's head."

That section, entitled "To the American People", was widely distributed, said Wallis but the full report was difficult to obtain when first released, he said. He added the report was delivered to Nixon "only a few hours" before it was released to the public. The document's recommendations, among other things, urged administration leaders to make greater efforts to unify the nation.

Feraca Plays Fireman's Role

KINGSTON Sergeant Joseph Feraca of the Town of Esopus police appeared in the role of a fireman shortly before 6 p. m. Monday, and using dry chemicals controlled fire in an automobile until city firemen arrived.

Fire officials said a blowback in the carburetor of a 1969 station wagon owned by William Zang of Sherry Lane and operated by William Bolde of East Chester Street Extension, caused a fire in the motor area near 197 Washington Avenue.

When firemen in charge of Deputy Chief Hugh Greer arrived they found the fire had been knocked down by Feraca. Firefighters on Engine 2 used pressurized water to complete the extinguishment of the blaze that damaged the air cleaner, hoses and wiring.

Due in Court On Store Charge

NEW PALTZ Frederick Bollenbach, 28, of Boice's Trailer Park, Kingston, is scheduled to appear Thursday, Oct. 8 before Town Justice S. Parks Glenn to face a charge of violating the General Business Law.

Bollenbach was arrested Sunday by Highland State Trooper G. P. Rebhan after a complaint was made by the proprietor of Toscani's Delicatessen here, accusing Bollenbach of selling food at a local store on Sunday, according to Kingston State Police.

Former Convict Sought in Killing of Five Persons

NEW PORT RICHEY, Fla. (UPI)—A nationwide police alert has been issued for an ex-convict charged with the fatal shootings of five persons Sunday in an apparent robbery.

Henry Thomas Ashley, 27, was named in five warrants charging him with first degree murder issued by Justice of the Peace William J. Young Monday. Ashley, who served time in Virginia for grand larceny, was described as a white male, six feet tall and weighing 170 pounds.

The police bulletin said he was considered "armed and extremely dangerous."

Police records in St. Petersburg also indicated Ashley was picked up on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon Sept. 30 and released on $500 bond. He appeared in court the following day, but the trial was postponed until Oct. 15.

Pasco County sheriff's deputies investigating the five murders said they found a red 1960 Falcon believed to have been used in the murders. A statement issued by the sheriff's New Port Richey office said Monday the car was in such poor condition Ashley could be expected to seek a replacement. The Falcon was found abandoned at an open air grocery store near Dade City late Monday night.

The five warrants accused Ashley of shooting Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Dorn, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Vaiana and 19-year-old Richard LaPlante. La-

Plante's body was found on the grill where the other four victims were found Sunday miles away from "Dorn's Hideaway Tavern," the bar and Pasco County Sheriff Basil

Gaines said a footprint found in caliber bullet shells were found the mud near LaPlante's body at both scenes. He said robbery was the apparent motive of the killings.

Blame Transmission Lines For Power Crisis in East

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI)—A lack of adequate transmission lines prevented available electricity from being used during the recent power crisis on the East Coast, Public Service Chairman Joseph C. Swidler has announced.

In an address to a conference on land use, Swidler added that saving the environment will require more, not less power, and called for statewide planning to make the best use of resources.

The planning can be done by the PSC, he said, through two laws passed by the 1970 legislature, and encouraging long-range planning by utilities. Swidler said this summer's power shortage demonstrates some shortcomings of the state Power Pool.

In the recent months in which the southeastern members of the Power Pool suffered almost daily problems in meeting their loads, and in which voltage reductions were made in New York City on more than a dozen separate occasions, he said, "some 500 to 1,000 megawatts of capacity in the north and western parts of the state and in Canada were unused and unavailable because the existing transmission lines could not carry the power."

He said the Power Pool, a cooperative effort by six major companies and the State Power Authority, can transfer existing supplies of power when needed, but lacks responsibility "for formulating comprehensive long-range plans on a statewide basis."

"Basically each company in New York must scratch for its own power needs," Swidler said.

The effect of the 1970 changes, he said, is to empower the PSC to consider the economic and the environmental impact before issuing certificates for new power facilities. "Long range, statewide planning could therefore, become the handmaiden of a certifying procedure," he said.

Tivoli Filing Unpaid Taxes Claim

By TIM SCHUSTER

TIVOLI

The Village of Tivoli is filing a claim against Penn Central Railroad for unpaid taxes of $3,239 in the U.S. District Court, Eastern District of Pennsylvania. The claim includes real property taxes of $3,041.32 plus penalties as of the time filed.

The claim against Penn Central, which filed bankruptcy papers several months ago, includes the right of the village to place a tax lien on the river front property.

The Village Board announced at its Monday night meeting that two ordinances are being considered to give the village expended powers in disposing of unsafe buildings and in controlling litter on private and public property.

The first of these local laws provides that "no person shall maintain or suffer to be maintained within the limits of the Village of Tivoli any unsafe buildings or collapsed structures."

The village zoning, building, and sanitary inspector will be asked to inspect all buildings which might conform to the specifications outlined in the proposal.

The ordinance is the result of avowals by the Village Board since Mayor Mortimer Appel took office 1½ years ago to rid the village of many derelict and unsafe buildings.

The second proposed local law is concerned with litter control. It covers all property including parks, streets, bodies of water, private yards, and sidewalks. A prime target is junk cars.

Penalties for the litter control law will range up to $100 for water supply and village recreation areas; $50 for parking lots; and $25 for most other offenses. It was also noted that there are unofficial plans by a new buyer of the former Tivoli Village of Tivoli to turn it into apartments. The present owner, Lawrence Marisch of Claverack, was going to put an addition in the building.

Mayor Appel answered The Freeman's question as to whether any special precautions would be taken in the village for Halloween. He said that none were anticipated, but the Sheriff's Department will be on standby.

Tivoli was the scene of much disorder two and three years ago requiring the assistance of Army reserve forces from Kingston and Poughkeepsie, according to one resident.

Bids on a secondary sewerage plant have been postponed until Oct. 24. They were originally scheduled for September.

Red Hook Rec Committee

Two Women Are Appointed

RED HOOK

Routine business at the Red Hook Village Board's Monday night meeting included the appointment of two women to a formerly all-male village-town Recreation Committee.

With the retirement of Chairman Vincent H. Griffin and member Al Bottenfeldt, Trustee Robert Bowman suggested that Mrs. Thomas McGhee Jr. and Mrs. William Martin be appointed to assume the vacancies.

Both have expressed great interest in the programs," he said, and the board concurred.

Two new part-time patrolmen were put on duty as the result of a special September meeting. They are Roland Page of Red Hook and Reginald Moore of Tivoli, who also serves as part-time policeman in Tivoli. They receive $2 per hour.

Cleanup days for all manner of large, heavy, and seasonal refuse was proclaimed for Oct. 19 and 21, with a request that leaves be bagged.

Mayor Elroy Hand said that items such as heavy iron, pipes, rocks and other hard bulky substances would not be picked up with regular garbage, as it posed a problem to the new garbage truck's mechanisms. He also asked that residents not fill cans with very heavy things such as rocks. "Some of the cans take three men to lift," he noted, saying that they would not be picked up in the future.

Fuel oil bids will be received, and opened Oct. 15.

The Red Hook fire police will be asked to aid in patrolling the village Halloween, in addition to regular village patrolmen.

Resident Arthur Hand asked about extension of business usage of the Universal Building Company behind Smith Street, and was told by Clerk Francis Rabbett that a hearing by the Zoning Board of Appeals would be held on the extension of a non-conforming use.

Prusacks—A Million Look

Thirteen is hardly unlucky for the Five Prusacks at 76 First Avenue, who have drawn that post position in the state's first million-dollar lottery.

The Five Prusacks are Leo F. Prusack and his wife, Ruth; their daughter Janie and her husband, Robert Warnecke and the Prusack's grandson, Robert Jr., who is 2½ years old.

The Kingston family is assured of $10,000. However, depending on how No. 13 finishes in a predetermined horse race to be chosen Thursday in New York City, the Prusacks could win the super prize of $1 million, or $100,000, $50,000, or $25,000. There are also other lesser awards already determined, ranging from $5,000 to $500 for a total of $6.7 million in award money. The $3 ticket sales for the summer super lottery totaled $16.7 million.

Leo Prusack, obviously elated by the selection, said he did not feel No. 13 would be a problem and expects to go all the way. He said the family first learned that they had drawn the horse Monday afternoon when Mrs. Prusack received a phone call from Albany about 2:30 p.m. Prusack was at his work.

He has been an upholsterer with Pilgrim Furniture Co., 107 Greenkill Avenue, since 1945. When asked by The Freeman what he would do with the money, if he won the big prize, he said, right at the moment, he wouldn't know, but he'll think of something.

All of the 14 grand tier winners are from New York. There is one other area winner, M. Elliott and A. Fitzgerald of Pine Plains, who drew No. 7.

The winners will depend on the outcome of a thoroughbred horse race recently run in New York State. The lottery ticket bearing the post position of the winning horse will receive the $1 million, the place horse $100,000, the show horse $50,000, and so on.

The horse race that will determine the winners will be chosen by actress-singer Pearl Bailey Thursday noon at the Seagram Building Plaza in New York City. Miss Rosemary Joyce, New York City summer festival queen will assist in the selections.

Falls Teachers Return to School

WAPPINGERS FALLS, N. Y. (AP) — Striking teachers voted to return to classes today in the 14 schools of the Wappingers Central School District after accepting a tentative contract in pre-dawn hours. The district has 14,000 pupils.

Demara Hewitt, president of the district's Faculty Association, announced agreement on the tentative proposal. He did not disclose the terms, subject to final ratification by the teachers.

About 600 of the district's teachers struck Sept. 25, and classes were limited or suspended in the meantime.

Economic Optimism

Walter W. Heller, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors under President Kennedy, shared the optimism of the Treasury's chief economist that the economy has embarked on an irreversible upturn this week. Murray L. Weideman, assistant secretary for Economic Policy, said "a new buoyancy in the economic environment has emerged." And Heller said, "the worst is over" adding that the low points in output, profits and stock prices and high points in inflation and interest rates have passed.

Weideman made his assessment in a speech to the Mortgage Bankers Association in Washington. Heller gave his conclusions in his periodic news letter for the National City Bank of Minneapolis. They differed mainly on the timing. Heller called for a more expansionary thrust. Weideman opted for a moderate upturn with continued measurable progress. Weideman reiterated the Administration's plea for Congress to hold down federal spending. Heller asked for a quicker rate of expansion, which is brought about by more spending.

For the immediate period ahead, Weideman cautioned each month's statistics may not steadily reflect an upturn. A short pause or even a temporary downturn for a month or so in some statistics is quite likely and, in some cases, has been occurring. But these should not mislead people. Authoritative economical voices in both major parties are agreed, that the business slowdown has bottomed out and a recovery is under way. There is no question whether the economy has resumed growing. It has moved past a crossover point towards expansion.

Least Rise in Two Years

The two-tenths of one per cent August rise in the cost of living, the smallest month-to-month change since December, 1968, led President Nixon's economists to declare their confidence that the battle against the nation's worst inflation in 20 years is being won.

Herbert Stein, member of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, called the August report the most solid evidence yet that Nixon's policies of tight money, high interest and cuts in federal spending are working to ease nearly two years of sharp inflation.

The delicate task immediately ahead, Stein added, is to promote a gradual business recovery without reviving inflation. He predicted that total production will rise steadily from now on and that the government can achieve its goal of full employment without inflation in the 1972 fiscal year beginning next July.

Nearly 80 million Americans are employed. Full employment is defined as a jobless rate of not more than four per cent. In the present labor force, that leaves room for some 3.2 million out of work, one million less than are idle now. Jobs for a million more workers would really be cheerful news.

Fire Prevention Week

During Fire Prevention Week, currently underway, we call attention to the tragic waste of lives and possessions which result from unnecessary fires. And professional fire safety fighters and educators declare there is no such thing as an accidental fire.

Most fires can be blamed on a match, combustible waste or defective electric wiring and equipment. The use of gasoline for cleaning under household conditions is another great risk—far too big a risk to trifle with.

Everyone should play safe this week and check on the fire hazards to which he is exposed, especially in the home, and do everything he can to eliminate them. For it is in the home where responsibility for fires can be pinned most easily on individuals and where individuals most easily can prevent them.

Fire Prevention Week is proclaimed for every year for the purpose of helping to increase our awareness of the ever-present danger of fire. If we are inspired to enforce safe living in our homes the year round, then Fire Prevention Week will have been a notable success.

The Ford Motor Car Co. has discontinued, effective with the 1971 models, the practice of leasing Lincoln Continentals to favored members of Congress at $750 a year. Commercial leasing rates of $3,600 for one year and $2,800 a year for a two-year lease will be offered them. There'll be no question of tit-for-tat favoritism then.

For the first time, Cuban authorities handed over a hijacker to American authorities when they delivered U. S. Army Pvt. Robert Labadie. He hijacked a TWA plane with 68 passengers Aug. 24. More than 100 U. S. citizens have commanded airplanes to Cuba in the last decade.

The AFL-CIO asked the Senate Finance Committee to increase Social Security benefits by 10 per cent this year and 20 per cent in 1972. If this keeps up, reaching retirement age is going to be financed handsomely, if today's workers and their employers don't rebel at paying the bill.

The Grass Is Greener

Henry J. Taylor Says U.S. Image Favorable Abroad

A lesson learned from a long European trip is confirmed by a recent French Institute of Public Opinion (Gallup) poll I saw in Paris. What is this about our "bad image" abroad?

The French put our country at the top of their favorite nations. The United States won out by more than two to one. Canada is the runner-up. Russia runs a very poor fourth.

When we believe that our "image" is bad among Europeans we probably forget that all likes and dislikes are relative and that Europeans, as a whole, certainly do not dislike us any more than they dislike one another. On that realistic basis the United States blooms like a rose.

You can find easy proof of this if you begin in France, as I did, and then go on to Belgium. Nearly any Frenchman will tell you there should be no Belgium. "Northern Belgium should be Dutch," millions insist. "Southern Belgium should be French. Why a Belgium?" And the Belgians, by and large, like neither the Dutch nor the French. This is the Belgians' answer, in part, as to why there is a Belgium.

Cross "The Sleeve," as the French call the English Channel. It is sometimes said abroad that those who love England like Englishmen the least. In simple truth, the British are not popular anywhere on the Continent.

And as Lord Palmerston once said, "England has no enduring friendships; she has only enduring interests."

Most continentals accuse the Englishman of being insolent, insular and incredibly stuffy. Britons, in turn, mightily enjoy the French co-la atmosphere, France's wines and foods, the glittering Riviera and gay Paris. But they show open contempt for the foibles, frailties and failures of the French.

Even on their own islands, are the English on fire with affection for the Scots? Or do Scotsmen and Englishmen between them love the Irish — and vice versa? That will be the day!

In Spain you will find no love lost between the Spaniards and the French — and there has never been. And both the Spaniards and the French will tell you that the trouble with Italy is the Italians. Individually, they enjoy them; collectively, they scoff at them, claiming that the Italians have made an art out of their ability to deceive themselves and that this is as much a part of their history as their genius for stone and brick.

Go on to Italy. The Italian dislike for the French. Spaniards, Austrians, Albanians and Yugoslavs, to say nothing of their own Sicilians, is a way of life among them, and always has been.

Cross the Adriatic to Greece, as I did. Mussolini committed Fascism's first aggression, which culminated in World War II, by bombing the Greek island of Corfu. "Typical," say the Greeks.

Go north. The Austrians do not like the Czechs and the Poles, to put it mildly, and the Czechs and Poles like neither the Austrians nor each other.

Most Norwegians, in turn, easily contain any enthusiasm for the Swedes — and vice versa. And both the Swedes and the Norwegians have a sort of built-in dislike for their neighboring Danes across the Skagerrak, and for the Dutch.

Finally, as for the Germans. From one end of Europe to the other the average European loves the Germans like a bulldog loves a tramp. Moreover, they see today's rather aggressive prosperity in West Germany, like everything that finally happens in Germany, as fairly disastrous — like the German genius for work and highway accidents. Even within Germany other Germans call the Berliner shrewd, untrustworthy, unduly fond of food, drink and women, and do not like the Berliners.

Oh, yes, we Americans stand fully as favorably as any of the rest. A small experiment, supplementing the French poll, brings its own good proof. Ask and you'll find that few Europeans could name for you a people other than themselves whom they like as well as they like Americans. That we are disliked abroad is merely one of those tired clichés that gets in the way of the truth.

Rep. Taft Could Pick Up Senate Seat for GOP in Ohio

By BRUCE BISSAT

NEA Washington Correspondent
CINCINNATI, Ohio (NEA) — Rep. Robert Taft Jr. looks to be in a strong position to pick up a U. S. Senate seat for the Republicans in Ohio unless a Democratic tide develops in the governorship race and engulfs him.

His opponent, wealthy businessman Howard Metzenbaum, who knocked off astronaut John Glenn in the Democratic primary last May, is a stiff challenger but has been running three points or so behind Taft in most poll tests.

Metzenbaum's chief tactic is to try to link Taft with slackened economic conditions, which he in turn lays at President Nixon's door. But Ohio's unemployment rate has been below the national average, and though it surely will rise with a long General Motors strike (the company has 40,000 workers in the state), there is as yet no convincing evidence this will damage Taft.

Taft's answer to Metzenbaum on the economy is that unemployment generally is around the level it was during most of the Kennedy-Johnson years — until the "war-time boom" touched off by LBJ's large entry into the South Vietnam war brought the jobless rate way down.

Few analysts in the state imagine Taft can be directly hurt, either, by the so-called Republican loan scandal which may have scarred GOP candidate for state office. The famous Taft name, always his biggest asset, seems secure against such tarnishing.

The one danger, however, is that some Republican voters may be turned off by the scandal and stay home, thus affecting Taft's total vote and possibly enhancing prospects for a governorship sweep by Democratic nominee John Gilligan which could pull Metzenbaum in.

Yet Ohio voters do a lot of ticket-splitting, and there is no solid proof in their voting history that such a "tandem effect" would result from a big Gilligan win over State Auditor Roger Cloud.

Actually, the largest question mark for Taft may be how much aid he gets from the followers of Gov. James Rhodes, whom he narrowly beat for the Senate nomination last spring.

Rhodes declared for the GOP ticket the moment he had lost, but the Taft forces for perhaps too long tended to ignore him. His late September appearance with Taft at a fund-raising dinner here was his first on the platform with the man who beat him.

The governor currently is pledging full help, but there are those in the state who wonder how thoroughly his backers will work after seeing their leader ignored for months.

If they do put out, Taft may keep his edge. His recognition factor is high, he is Mr. Integrity himself, and he cannot be faulted as untutored on the issues, as Metzenbaum subtly managed to suggest about John Glenn without ever attacking him.

At 53, Taft, of course, is no glamor boy. He has the look of a competent junior executive, and his speeches sound like well-prepared company reports. While he is invariably pleasant and friendly, he shows a certain stiffness even when trying to unbend and be a bit funny.

On the other hand, Metzenbaum is no charismatic marvel. The television blitz he put on to beat Glenn still leaves him less well-known than Taft, and their agreement to limit spending this fall may handicap the Democrat in closing the recognition gap.

Metzenbaum is a constant smile but his: "You're going to send me to the Senate, aren't you?" may be a bit too abrasive with voters. Told of this approach, a key Democrat winced and fell back on forecasting that Gilligan would pull Metzenbaum in. Today's odds still say no.

Jack Anderson Says Soviet Subs Off Cuba Could Bomb Any Place in the U.S.

WASHINGTON — While he was preaching economy to the nation, President Nixon used his prestige behind the scenes to have the presidential pension increased from $25,000 to $60,000 a year.

Normally, White House requests for legislation are sent to Capitol Hill in writing. But for the discreet mission, the President sent his chief lobbyist, Bryce Harlow, to pass the word in person.

Harlow contacted House Speaker John McCormack, who fathered presidential pensions. Harlow told McCormack the present pension doesn't provide adequately for Harry Truman, who is not a wealthy man.

McCormack agreed the pension should be revised. He suggested the increase could be slipped into the postal reform legislation then under consideration by the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee.

McCormack summoned the committee chairman, Thaddeus Dulski, D-N.Y., to the Speaker's byzantine office in the Capitol for a closed-door conference. Harlow was also present.

Dulski, nervous about the postal reform bill in the aftermath of the nation's first postal strike, balked at the Speaker's proposal. Potentially, Dulski argued, it was a controversial amendment which might send the vital postal reforms bill down to defeat. He refused to go along.

But later, when the Senate passed and sent to the House a bill to increase benefits for the second spouses of federal employees, the White House saw another opening. Again McCormack's help was enlisted, and he obtained Dulski's agreement to consider the pension increase as a rider on the "second-spouse" bill.

In addition to raising presidential pensions, the measure also would increase the pensions of the widows of past Presidents. Some of the members of Dulski's committee were at first worried that the amendment might enrich Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis and thus prove an embarrassment in an election year.

However, it was so written that Mrs. Onassis would not be eligible. The chief beneficiary would be Mamie Eisenhower. The bill sailed through the committee. Now it must pass the full House and survive a Senate-House conference.

Nixon took a personal interest in upping presidential pensions after meeting last summer with former President Lyndon Johnson.

Both men agreed what a shame it was that former President Harry Truman was only receiving $25,000 a year. Since Truman is 86 years old, however, it will be Johnson and Nixon who will benefit the most from an increase.

Nixon also was concerned that Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower should receive a more generous pension. If the amendment passes, her yearly pension would rise from $10,000 to $33,000.

New Cuban Crisis
The real reason for President Nixon's concern over the construction of Soviet naval facilities at Cienfuegos, Cuba, is that they might be used to bring missiles back into the Caribbean.

Eight years ago, President Kennedy forced the Soviets to withdraw their missiles from Cuba in a nuclear showdown that had the world holding its breath. Now Polaris-style Soviet subs, armed with 16 missiles each, have been spotted in the Caribbean.

The naval facilities at Cienfuegos would permit these deadly submarines to operate in the Caribbean without returning home for service and supplies. Indeed, aerial photos — taken by the same U-2 spy planes that photographed the missiles in Cuba in October, 1962 — show that a Soviet submarine tender has already docked at Cienfuegos.

Privately, President Nixon has expressed frank admiration for Kennedy's handling of the 1962 Cuban missile crisis. Therefore, say insiders, the President feels he must be equally tough about keeping Soviet missiles from returning to the Caribbean.

He has also suggested to aides that the Soviet naval construction in Cuba is a violation of the Monroe Doctrine, which has kept European powers out of the Western Hemisphere since 1823.

It looks, unhappily, as if another Cuban missile crisis is building up.

FOOTNOTE: The Soviet Union has more than a dozen Polaris-style submarines, whose hydrogen-headed missiles could reach any point in the U.S. from the Caribbean.

Jumbo Jet Unsafe?
This column has examined internal government documents, which raise alarming new questions about the safety of the Boeing 747 jumbo jetliner.

The documents, prepared inside the National Transportation Safety Board, suggest in technical language that the giant 747 engine builds up too much compression during take-off. This produces overheating which allegedly has caused interior rivets to pop out and rip like shrapnel into the fuselage and fuel tanks.

Flying rivets, for example, caused an engine explosion in an Air France 747 over St. Jean, Canada, on August 17. A report on the accident investigation, dated August 31, declares: "Our examination of the failed engine has revealed that approximately 25 per cent of the 90 retaining bolts for the nozzle guide vane support had not been torqued according to the approved specifications."

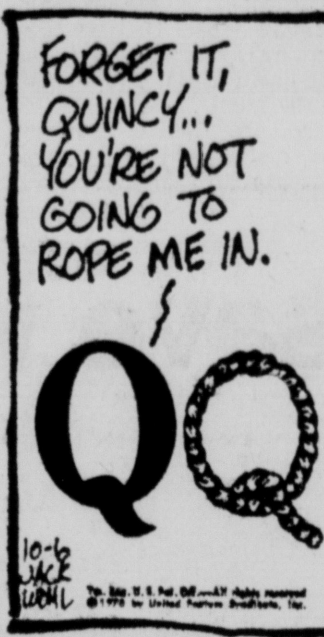

But Pratt and Whitney, which manufactures the 747 engine, persuaded the Safety Board that the failure wouldn't likely happen again. States the report: "Based on the above, Pratt and Whitney at this time feels the Air France failure was an isolated case."

Yet eight days later, another Air France 747 developed an engine fire while taking off from New York City's Kennedy Airport. And the next day, the right outboard engine of a Trans World Airlines 747 burst into flames shortly after take-off from Kansas City. Flying rivets reportedly were involved in both mishaps.

The closest brush with tragedy, however, occurred 13 seconds after an American Airlines 747 took off from the San Francisco airport. The flying rivets punctured the main fuel tank and severed the hydraulic and pneumatic lines, causing a massive wing fire. Miraculously, the plane made it safely back to the runway.

The traveling public, meanwhile, is entitled to know the facts.

Mideast Opportunity

Why Not Memorial to Nasser?

By RAY CROMLEY

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The Nixon administration must not let the death of Gamal Abdel Nasser go by without some symbolic act.

However even-handed U.S. policy may have been in the Middle East, millions of Arabs firmly believe the United States is wedded to Israel.

This belief makes American peace initiatives exceedingly difficult. And without U.S. efforts as a catalyst, the sores that keep the Middle East in turmoil may never be healed.

Now the United States has an opportunity to make a gesture — one that would mean a great deal to the Arabs without destroying this country's neutrality.

The gesture this reporter proposes would be a meaningful gift dedicated to the memory of Nasser. It could be cultural, educational or economic. But the most meaningful gift would be some dramatic humanitarian economic project, large or small, which would help the ordinary people of that country.

The U.S. gift would stand as a symbol of peace.

It could, for example, be the great desalinization and power plant at Alexandria, Egypt, first proposed in President Eisenhower's administration and reportedly personally endorsed by him. This would give Egyptians a new source of water and electricity for agricultural, drinking and industrial use.

Or it could be an irrigation project in some undeveloped area of Egypt.

One Middle East expert familiar with the deserts (through service with Lawrence of Arabia and later with the Arab guerrillas) has suggested to this reporter that one great project might be for the United States to help develop in some desert area of Egypt a giant stretch of date orchards dedicated to Nasser's memory.

Much of Egypt is desert and largely unproductive except, of course, for the great Nile Valley.

But dates can grow in the desert. They need relatively little water. What water they require can be provided for in some areas by a number of deep wells.

Strangely enough, though dates are a Middle East specialty, the United States has considerable expertise in the field.

The opening up of these new lands would provide new hope for many land-hungry Egyptians and help give a new internal stability to that country.

There are, of course, many other possibilities. The purpose of each would be the same — to convince the people of Egypt that the United States respects and wants friendship with the Arab people and the Israelis alike, that we are not on one side or another of the unfortunate Israeli-Arab conflict, that we stand ready to extend our hands in peaceful help to assist them in doing more for themselves.

Right now, from everything this reporter can gather from sources close to the Egyptians, the people want to get on with developing their country. They feel unjustly treated by Israel. Battlefield defeats have affected them deeply inside. But what they want most of all is to build their land, not to make war.

This would also be a good time psychologically for President Nixon to suggest strongly to the Israeli government that it tender an extremely generous peace proposal to the Egyptians and Jordanians.

Certainly at this juncture, when Egypt is in mourning, no one could accuse the Israelis of fear.

A peace offer in the name of Nasser would give his life added meaning. It could be the kind of respectful gesture, if given in sincerity, that would appeal to a mourning people. It may be, in fact, that the Egyptians and Israelis are not in reality so far apart on what they believe essential in a peace as has been supposed.

When Japan gave up the great conquered areas in Korea, Taiwan and Manchuria where she had poured so much money and effort and where she had produced remarkable economic development, her people found themselves richer, more prosperous and more influential than ever before.

Israel thus can afford to be generous and understanding. This is the time for Nixon to step in with vigor.

Shuffle Off to Buffalo

Agnew There, But Not GOPers

Vice President Spiro Agnew appeared in New York City Monday and found three of the state's leading Republicans traveling to Buffalo.

"Vice President Agnew arrived in New York City this morning. I left for Buffalo," said Mayor John V. Lindsay.

Lindsay, Sen. Charles Goodell, and Gov. Rockefeller, all Republicans, flew to Buffalo Monday for campaign appearances. Arthur Goldberg, Rockefeller's Democratic-Liberal opponent, and James Buckley, the Conservative Senate nominee, also were in Western New York for part of the day.

Agnew appeared at what he described as a fund-raising meeting "for Republicans who support President Nixon." It was not specified which Republicans would be aided by the dinner, but Agnew, in his speech, attacked both Goodell and Rep. Richard Ottinger, the Democratic candidate.

"I do not support Mr. Ottinger, and I do not support Mr. Goodell," Agnew said.

Buckley, speaking in the middle-class Buffalo suburb of Williamsville, said Agnew had supported him by elimination.

"I think it is quite clear that the administration is telegraphing the point that it would like to see me in the Senate," Buckley said.

In appearances at a Rotary Club dinner and at a Veterans of Foreign War post, Buckley said he was frightened by "signs of a kind of disintegration of our society."

"All of these things have led Americans to wonder if this country is going to hang together long enough for us to pass on to future generations what we received from our forebears," Buckley said.

"It's a very close race right now," he said.

Aides said the candidates were less than five percentage points apart with about five per cent undecided.

Rockefeller met Goodell at the airport, as the senator was concluding his Buffalo campaign tour. Goodell, who appeared with Lindsay at an outdoor rally, said he was not as sure as Rockefeller that Agnew's attacks helped in the senate race. "I hope he's right," Goodell said of Rockefeller's interpretation. "To me, it's too early to assess whether I've been helped or hurt. It may hurt me in some areas and help me in others. But I'm certainly going to fight back."

Lindsay told the audience the issue "whether the voters of New York State are going to return to the Senate an independent man who refuses to be pushed around by politicians in high places."

"I believe the voters are not going to be intimidated or pushed around any more than Charlie Goodell has been willing to be pushed around," Lindsay said.

Goldberg, touring Buffalo-area plant, characterized the Rockefeller administration as a series of broken promises.

"How can you trust a man who believes the voter has forgotten what he said four years ago or eight years ago," Goldberg said of the governor.

The former Supreme Court Justice quoted from a 1962 speech in which Rockefeller said: "There won't be any tax increases. I won't let you down."

"Taxes were raised the very next year," Goldberg said.

One candidate who did not join the migration to Buffalo, Democratic Rep. Richard L. Ottinger, said he wanted a federal nutrition program for elderly people.

Criticism May Help Charlie: Rocky

By United Press International

Governor Rockefeller says Spiro Agnew's criticism of Sen. Charles E. Goodell might be an asset rather than a liability to the senator's election campaign. Rockefeller, who ran into Goodell while both were campaigning in Buffalo Monday, said the senator would probably pick up some "sympathy votes" as a result of Agnew's attack.

Agnew gave Conservative James L. Buckley his tacit endorsement for senator at a Manhattan fund-raising luncheon. Newsmen were barred from the affair, but guests said Agnew made his preference for Buckley obvious. They also said Agnew voiced strong support for Rockefeller in the gubernatorial election.

"He said Mr. Goodell would out-Ottinger Ottinger and Mr.

Ottinger would out - Goodell," said businesswoman Wreed Petersmyer.

Both Goodell and Rep. Richard L. Ottinger, the Democratic Senate candidate, were described as "obstructionists" opposing President Nixon's policies by Agnew, according to Lloyd B. Waring, former Massachusetts

Republican chairman and New England fund-raising chief for Nixon in 1968.

"He was very emphatic that not obstructionists but candidates helpful to Nixon must be supported," Waring said.

Waiting with newsmen outside the Waldorf Astoria Hotel bankers, O'Dwyer said Agnew "is here with a considerable number of fat cats in that room."

While O'Dwyer criticized the Nixon administration, one woman called out "you should be ashamed to speak that way."

In Rochester, Rockefeller campaigned atop an automobile outside city hall after declining to cross a picket line set up by off-duty firemen.

Newspaper Guild Strikes the New York Post

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Newspaper Guild struck today, breaking off a little more than an hour before the 6 a.m. strike deadline.

The New York Post today, ringed by the paper's building on the East River with pickets at 6 York Times and The Daily News, the two Manhattan morning dailies, were expected to make known later whether they would suspend publication in sympathy with the Post. They had not previously indicated they would suspend.

The 4,500 editorial, commercial and miscellaneous employees represented by the guild at the three papers have been working without a contract since March 30.

Top minimum for reporters and photographers at the Post under guild contracts has been $239.55 weekly after four years of experience, plus a cost-of-living clause.

Guildsmen at the News are expected to vote later today on whether to authorize a strike. The Times guild unit already has authorized a strike, but no date has been set.

Six of nine craft unions at the three papers, plus the Long Island Press, have accepted three-year contracts calling for a 41.69 per cent raise, compounded from 15, 11 and 11 per cent annual increases.

With circulation near 700,000, the tabloid Post has advertised itself as the nation's largest evening paper.

After talks broke off, Thomas Murphy, executive vice president of the guild said in a statement.

The guild negotiating committee refused to grant concessions made to other unions and even failed to correct the long-existing inadequacies at the Post.

The negotiating committee voted unanimously to strike, Murphy said, after the talks, assisted by labor mediator Theodore Kheel, failed.

As he left the Automation House site of the talks, Murphy said that the Post had made a "few minor concessions, but they were not enough."

"They have pushed off reach ing an agreement with us since

Manson Ousted From Court After Leaping at Judge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Manson mumbled, "You know," paused, then added: "You order me to be quiet while you kill me. I'm going to fight for my life one way or another. You should have let me do it with words. I'm going to have you killed. I have my own little system, you know."

The judge tried to proceed with testimony, but was interrupted by Manson who shouted, "Do you think I'm kidding?"

With that, the slim 5-foot-5 defendant, with a sharp pencil clenched in one hand, made a quick cat-like jump with one foot on the counsel table, launching himself into a dive at the judge. He plunged head first to the floor within two feet of the bench. Subdued by bailiffs, he was removed to an adjoining detention room.

The three women—Susan Atkins, 21, Leslie Van Houten, 20, and Patricia Krenwinkel, 22—sang a largely unintelligible sing-song chant from their seats at the counsel table. When they refused to stop, the judge ordered them ejected too.

The chant was a "universal chant," a defense lawyer said later, and the words were "Nam-ma-ho-ram-gay-ky-o."

The attorney said the women wouldn't explain its meaning.

A court observer said it was a chant of Oriental origin which has no specific meaning but it supposed to bring wish fulfillment.

The judge, who was unflinching during the uproar, ordered testimony to resume with the defendants listening via loudspeakers in adjoining rooms.

The bearded, long-haired leader of a hippie-type clan sprang at the judge after telling him: "The minute I see you are going to use this courtroom to kill me, you know what I'm going to do to you."

Manson, 35, is on trial with three women followers, charged with murdering Miss Tate and six others in August 1969. Twice ejected last week for singing and shouting taunts at the judge, the defendants were readmitted Monday and given another chance to behave.

But as the session began, Manson spoke up, asking a chance to question witnesses. The judge refused.

"Are you going to use this courtroom to kill me? Do you want me to be dead?" Manson asked the judge, his voice rising with anger. The judge repeatedly told him to be silent. Then Manson asked, "Do you know what I'm going to do to you?"

The judge said, "What are you going to do to me?"

The judge refused.

Youth Arrested In Connection With Auto Death

TOWN OF ULSTER

A 16-year-old youth was arrested Monday by Kingston State Police on a charge of criminal negligent homicide in connection with a fatal traffic accident that occurred on Sept. 30 on Main Street in Glasco.

Thomas J. Petramale Jr., of P. O. Box 587, Glasco, was arraigned by BCI Investigator David Wachtel before Town Justice Arthur A. Reilly. The youth was released in custody of Attorney Charles Saccoman and preliminary hearing was adjourned until Oct. 14.

Petramale was the operator of a car that troopers said was traveling along Main Street in Glasco when the vehicle skidded out of control on wet pavement, struck a tombstone in front of St. Joseph's Church and then hit the church.

Killed in the accident was 20-year-old Wayne S. Havens, of Box 553, Glasco, who was home on leave from the Army.

Ovando Resigns Position As Bolivian President

LA PAZ (UPI) — President Alfredo Ovando resigned today in what he said was an attempt to avoid bloodshed and a "clash between the army and the populace," Bolivian Information Minister Carlos Carasco announced.

Carrasco read a note from Ovando announcing the resignation.

Bolivia had earlier appeared near civil war as the chief of police in La Paz threw his support to the army commander trying to depose Ovando.

Adjournment For Hurley Man

TOWN OF ULSTER

A 38-year-old Hurley man was arrested Monday by State Police BCI Officer David Wachtel on a charge of criminal possession of stolen property second degree.

The arrest followed a complaint made by Edward Cooper of Kingston, who authorities said accused the defendant, Arthur Frederick Champion of having in his possession a road roller owned by Cooper and valued at $500.

Champion was arraigned before Town Justice Arthur A. Reilly, who fixed bail at $250 and adjourned hearing until Wednesday.

Typhoon Iris

TOKYO (UPI)—Typhoon Iris whipped the South China Sea with 80-mile-an-hour winds today and headed toward Hong Kong. But the Typhoon Warning Center said the typhoon was expected to disintegrate when it reached land.

New Approach to Drug Problem Tried by Upstate Police Sergeant

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — When police Sgt. Paul E. Fabian ran into "roadblocks" in handling drug problems in his community, he opened a new road — one which is not only helping police but youthful drug users too.

Fabian, 44, named policeman of the year by the International Association of Chiefs of Police and Parade magazine, said one of the most common barriers in gathering information about the drug scene is youth's fear of talking about it. Talk, it is thought, could lead to arrest.

Under a plan instituted by Fabian in the Town of Rotterdam, however, the suspected teen-age drug user is offered immunity from arrest or prosecution, thus opening the way for counseling without the threat of punishment. "We automatically open the line of communication between the youngster and his parents," said Fabian, the fifth recipient of the award and a 17-year veteran of Rotterdam's thirty man police force.

"What I do is go right into the home of a drug-using kid and sit down with the youngster and his parents," said the father of three. "I tell the boy or girl that we believe he's on drugs and we want to talk it over. Almost invariably, once the youngster knows he won't be punished, he opens up and talks a flood."

"It's the most original idea in the drug field in a long time," says Dist. Atty. Howard A. Levine, who broke precedent in helping Fabian set up the program.

Fabian, an energetic citizen concerned about the problems of his part suburban and part rural beat, became a one-man narcotics squad nearly ten years ago on an unofficial basis. "People didn't believe we had a drug problem at first. But the drug problem slowly moved up the Hudson River and the more arrests we made the more people began to believe we had a problem," says Fabian, who now holds the drug beat assignment officially.

Fabian said that in seven of nine recent cases the youths turned out to be "adventure-some experimenters" who provided police the identities of the nearly 40 pushers and users, though the source of the information remains confidential. According to Levine, the Fabian plan also attacks two other major problems associated with the drug scene: "one of handing out a criminal record for a matter of immaturity and poor judgement—the other problem is police manpower. We should be concentrating our manpower efforts on pushers and dealers."

Underground Fires Plague Appalachian Region

FROSTBURG, Md. (AP) — At least a dozen invisible fires — one of which has been burning 55 years, are scattered through the Appalachian mining region. The fires, often known only by occasional wisps of smoke or by bare areas during the normally snowy winter months, are glowing in coal mines hundreds of feet below the ground. One which was started in 1915 by a miner's lamp, has burned to within 2,000 feet of the city of Wilkes-Barre, Pa. It is costing the U.S. Bureau of Mines millions of dollars to control.

In Maryland, underground mine fires are burning near Frostburg and Lonaconing, but are not endangering any populated areas. Because of this fact and because they are privately-owned, the Bureau of Mines is not authorized to work on them.

No one knows when some of the fires began, but extinguishing a 12-year-old fire on the edge of Scranton, Pa., required the demolition of dozens of shops and homes. A $50 million industrial complex developed from a mine fire at Throop, Pa.

Because the fires cannot be seen, 6 to 8-inch boreholes must be drilled to determine their depth, perimeter and direction. Burning areas sometimes can be flooded if they are below the natural water line. If they are higher, any water pumped into the ground will run into subsurface rivers instead of putting out the fire. In that case the mass of hot coal must be blocked off and allowed to burn itself out. Sometimes, as with the Scranton fire, the burning area can be dug out.

The fires, which sometimes reach temperatures exceeding 1,000 degrees Fahrenheit, often send smoke and fumes seeping into homes above.

When the fires burn through wood and coal supports in the mining region, the earth above collapses, tilting or toppling nearby homes and other structures.

In one case a man complained could get only steam out of a cold water faucet in his house. Another fire collapsed the earth so that two homes tilted towards each other, their roofs touching.

The 55-year-old Wilkes-Barre fire now being fought is burning under suburban Georgetown, where nearly 200 homes and shops were vacated and demolished. An urban renewal project will rebuild the area after the fire is extinguished.

Seawater Scrubbing Developed to Solve Air Pollution

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Experiments conducted by Health, Education and Welfare

Prof. Leroy A. Bromley showed that common sea water can be most serious of several air pollutants.

The U.S. Department of removing sulfur oxides from a chamber where they are scrubbed clean by sea water and finally reheats them before they are released through the stack.

Bromley's method cools raw stack gases, runs them through that it uses inexpensive sea water that should make the method economically attractive to plants near sea coasts or estuarine waters.

Democrats Approach Election Sharply Divided

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Democratic party was built in the 1930s when Franklin D. Roosevelt formed a powerful coalition of the labor unions, racial and ethnic minorities, small farmers, intellectuals and the traditionally Democratic but conservative southern states. With it, Roosevelt won the presidency in the depths of the depression and was re-elected three times. The Roosevelt coalition held together long enough to win seven of nine presidential elections starting in 1932 and control of Congress in 16 of the last 18 sessions. That coalition is what is breaking up now, perhaps never to be seen again. The first cracks appeared in the old "solid South" in 1948 when a splinter states' rights party formed over the civil rights issue. Now the Democrats would be lucky to carry two or three of the 13 southern border states in the 1972 presidential election. The farmers who once adhered to the coalition, mainly in the Midwest, have been moving 7 back toward their traditional Republican loyalty. The minorities—particularly blacks and Mexican-Americans—remain strongly Democratic. But the intellectuals—on the campuses especially—are breaking with the party over Vietnam and speak about a political party of their own. But the major blow—the one the present Democratic party probably could not survive—is the possible defection of organized labor. Labor's support has been of vast benefit to the Democrats. Not only have working men and their families voted Democratic in a range of 55 to 75 per cent, but union political action committees have opened big bankrolls for Democratic candidates and provided manpower and organizations for vital "get out the vote" drives. Signs of trouble for Democrats this year include the endorsement of Republican candidates by organized labor in at least two states, with several more in the works. In addition, labor contributions to Democratic candidates have fallen off and the president of the AFL-CIO, George Meany, has been saying some kind things about President Nixon. The Democrats have not completely lost labor yet, but they may if the party cannot produce leadership that can reconcile deepening differences within the FDR coalition or compose a new one. Leadership is one of the party's most pressing problems. Normally, a party with a living former President has a pick up his family's political heritage, was hurt deeply on a national level by his involvement with the accidental drowning of Mary Jo Kopechne in 1969. He is not regarded as a likely 1972 presidential prospect at this time. Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, the 1968 vice presidential candidate, is storing up political capital for the future by helping other Democratic candidates this year, but thus far he has not caught fire as a 1972 prospect.

Wilson on Spiro — — Should Have Stayed Out

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON — Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson's concerted drive to reelect a Republican legislature as well as himself, brought him to Ulster County Monday afternoon where he told reporters he was "sorry" Vice President Agnew came in to New York State to boost Conservative candidate for U.S. Senator James L. Buckley.

The Yonkers lawyer and veteran of 32 years of public service, urged that "no one from outside the state," including Democrat Sargent Shriver who is stopping for a Democratic Congress, should become involved in New York State politics.

Wilson suggested that when outsiders come in, often emotionalism takes the place of logic.

Asked about the possible outcome of the U.S. Senate race, which pits Buckley against the Republican incumbent Charles E. Goodell and Democrat Richard Ottinger, Wilson said, "I have great regard for the intelligence of the electorate."

Saying he won't concede a single Republican legislative loss, the presiding officer of the epic provincial interest in New York City," he concluded. "Enacted massive school aid increase and a pioneer revenue sharing program for local governments to hold down local tax rates."

• "Took firm action to put an end to crime, narcotics addiction and urban decay."

Wilson said it was unnecessary to detail the contrast of this record with that of the Democrats when they controlled both houses of the Legislature in 1965. They couldn't even elect their own leaders and vote a budget without Republican help. Obviously they demonstrate lack of capacity to legislate effectively.

Wilson heaped praise on Bell and Rolison calling the assemblyman an effective and articulate representative and the senator a "fine parliamentarian whom I often ask to take my place when I am absent as presiding officer of the Senate."

Recalling that in 1966, Ulster County had 14,000 more enrolled Republicans than Democrats, the lieutenant governor said that the GOP won with only a 9,000 vote edge. He urged party workers to get out the vote and increase the plurality, emphasizing that upstate must offset the dominant downstate concentration.

"The Democrats have a my-

• "During the Rockefeller administration, it was this sort of combination which conceived the history-making Pure Waters bond issue which is cleaning up our rivers, lakes and streams."

• "Took action to bring up to date and expand our arterial highway and mass transit systems. Imagine," he said, "the Democrats voted against the New York State Thruway."

• "Provided opportunity for higher education for all in both the private and public sector party workers."

Among those who greeted Wilson were GOP County Chairman Albert Spada, Vice Chairman Edwin Callahan and Mrs. Sally Brinnier, former State Senator Arthur Wicks and a host of Republican leaders and party workers.

WILSON IN KINGSTON — Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson presided at ribbon cutting ceremonies Monday at Republican Headquarters at 781 Broadway. Praising women for their ability to accomplish, Wilson said they also generally identify

Four Proposals From Lenefsky

KINGSTON — David Lenefsky said today that he is "the only candidate for the State Senate who has proposed specific steps that Albany could take to correct its financially unhealthy condition. For the past several months, I have talked to citizens of Ulster and Dutchess Counties," said Lenefsky, "about four specific measures Albany could adopt to equitably raise new money, and to curb the wasteful spending of money."

• I have proposed a higher business tax on big business, and I have spelled out in detail the reasons why such a tax is needed.

• I have proposed that Albany stop the rapidly increasing State debt by immediately putting an end to the use of non-voter approved bonds.

• I have proposed a freeze on the expanding State bureaucracy of 20 departments and numerous boards and commissions which costs 1.8 billion dollars to operate in 1970.

• I have proposed developing new techniques to stop New York State construction cost overruns, which have too frequently increased 50 to 80 percent between the preliminary planning and final construction stages.

"I have proposed that New York State implement these four measures," continued Lenefsky, "so that we can get more money back into Ulster and Dutchess Counties to develop two new programs."

First, Ulster and Dutchess desperately need Albany's financial assistance so we can begin to pay our law enforcement officers decent salaries. All our police departments in Dutchess and Ulster, and our Sheriff's Office in Ulster County, are underpaid and, consequently, understaffed," declared Lenefsky. "Secondly, we must freeze property taxes at their current level, and the State must begin the gradual assumption of the full costs of our public schools. It is fiscally insane," said Lenefsky, "to continue to finance our schools on the basis of the property tax."

"Thus my opponent was politically negligent last week when he said that I make promises while at the same time I say that our State is in near financial ruin. The fact is," said Lenefsky, "New York State is in financial ruin, and that is why I have proposed these four steps to correct the financial picture in Albany. And only if we do adopt these four measures," declared Lenefsky, "can we raise the needed money to carry out my policies of strengthening our law enforcement capabilities and equitably financing our public schools."

"My opponent Jay P. Rolison has obviously not read my prior statements," said Lenefsky. "My opponent treats the citizens of Ulster and Dutchess Counties as impressionable children by making such a politically misleading statement. My opponent, however, was one hundred percent correct when he said to criticize is the easiest thing in the world. To criticize my opponent's four year record as State Senator," concluded Lenefsky, "is the easiest thing in the world because his record is just that bad."

Lenefsky outlined his schedule for Wednesday. At 10 o'clock in the morning, Lenefsky is speaking at Dutchess County Community College on the subject, A Responsible Role For Students In American Politics. At noon, Lenefsky debates his opponent, Jay P. Rolison at the Poughkeepsie Rotary. And at 7 o'clock, Lenefsky will be the guest speaker at the Fishkill-East Fishkill Lions Club on How to Equitably Finance the decade of the 1970s. At 8:30, Lenefsky is attending a coffee for him hosted by Mrs. Barbara Cohen of Cloverhill Road, in the Town of Poughkeepsie.

Vogt, Nirenberg Slate LWV Debate

The Woodstock League of Women Voters cordially invites the public to attend its next meeting, Wednesday 8 p.m. at Deanies in Woodstock. Guest speakers will be Francis J. Vogt and Alex Nirenberg, candidates for the office of district attorney in Ulster County.

After a short business meeting, Vogt and Nirenberg will discuss their ideas as to the main issues involved in the contest for district attorney.

Last Day To Register

KINGSTON — the County Office Building, Kingston. Today is the last opportunity for Ulster County residents to register to vote in the Nov. 3 election.

Concerned are those persons who moved since last registering to vote and persons who are new in the area.

Registration is taking place between noon and 10 p. m. in all towns of the county and in the City of Kingston. Further information may be obtained from the Board of Elections in hearing.

Harassment Charge

Amos Cooper, 20, of 650 Broadway, was arrested Monday by Kingston police on a charge of harassment. He was taken into custody on complaint of Georgianna Cooper, who told police the defendant slapped her face during a quarrel in her apartment. The case was referred to City Court for hearing.

In Malaysia's Capital: Fashions Are International

By CAROL SIMONS
KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Girl-watching in this Malaysian capital is definitely an international affair.

The variety of parading samples dressed in colorful sarongs, flowing saris, form-fitting choong-sams or skimpy minis add Asian spice to any casual walk along the city streets.

This fashion parade is rarely missed by any tourist who head swiveling, camera clicking, is quick to comment that if he didn't know what country he was in, he surely wouldn't guess it from the girls.

Because Malaysia is an obvious combination of races and nationalities — roughly 45 per cent Malay, 40 per cent Chinese, 12 per cent Indian and the rest "others" — the country shows its character beautifully in the dress of its women, most of whom still cling to their costumes of national origin. Undisturbed by the fashion world for hundreds of years, these costumes demonstrate a grace plus practicality that lasts for years.

And, in many cases, these classical styles have outmoded the modish. Old Chinese women have been doing their peddling and their bargain shopping for centuries clad in trouser suits — but here they look more like baggy pants and blouses.

The Malay women wear two types of dresses, either the Muslim loose-fitting skirt and long blouse, called baju kurong, or the more form-fitting sarong and kebaya. The kebaya is a long-sleeved, waist-hugging blouse and many wearers are themselves hugged by old-fashioned stays.

The degree of cover-up is important in the Islamic religion, but the conservatism doesn't seem to affect the shape. Young women often sport super-tight sarongs and compete famously with their Chinese colleagues in mini-skirts.

The Chinese, more influenced by Western styles and not affected by the Islamic code, wear a variety of fashions.

It is not uncommon for a career girl to wear a suit to the office, a "samfoo" or pajamas, at home and a sleek cheong-sam in the evening.

The cheong-sam is the traditional high-collared, fitted and slitted dress that Suzie Wong wore in her world.

Perhaps the most dramatic costume on Kuala Lumpur's streets is the colorful sari, bright pink with gold borders or green and yellow floral design or a hundred other combinations.

The Indian women wear their saris with a certain flamboyance, swishing the five yards of material or repeatedly throwing the end piece of material over their shoulders, aware perhaps that many consider this dress the most beautiful in the world.

As for the Western women of this city, they're still in minis and modest knee-lengths and wondering what to wear next. There's probably a subconscious envy of the stability of the cheong-sam, sarong-kebaya, sari or punjabi dress.

There is no doubt that for centuries these styles have flattered the women and pleased the men, and they still are among the best sights to see in town. Ask any girl-watcher!

The Woman's Club of Saugerties will participate in the fifth annual Chrysanthemum Festival by sponsoring an Outdoor Art Show. The Art Show, to be held on Sunday, Oct. 18, from 1 to 4 p.m., adds another attraction to the festivities being planned for Seamon Park. It is also hoped the show will further the purpose of the Mum Festival, which is the appreciation and awareness of the beauty and serenity of the park.

The Outdoor Art Show promises to be an exciting event, with approximately 45 area artists displaying their works. Mrs. Stephen Ryan, Art Department chairman, and Mrs. Edward Ruszyk, co-chairman, have been making the arrangements for the exhibits. The art works include those of professional artists as well as a mixture of businessmen and homemakers with painting as their hobby. Mrs. Ryan reports that the artists will be coming from Woodstock, Kingston, Catskill, New Paltz, West Camp, and High Woods, as well as from Saugerties, thus giving Festival-goers a panorama of creative work from the immediate area.

Members of the Woman's Club will be on hand the day of the show to assist in the organization and display of these many paintings. The Saugerties Jaycees have also agreed to give their assistance during the afternoon.

Serving with Mrs. Ryan on the Art Committee of the Woman's Club of Saugerties are the Mmes. Edward Ruszyk, Egon Lippert, Frank Lauffer, Norman Nitschke, George Leombruno, Walter Stolte, Stephen Landry, Albert Treu, Joseph Benjamin, Wayne Brunkhurst, Albert Curl, and John Janeczek.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Outdoor Art Show Scheduled at Seamon Park

WOMAN'S CLUB OF SAUGERTIES — Members of the Woman's Club of Saugerties met recently at Seamon Park, site of the fifth annual Chrysanthemum Festival, to discuss plans for an Outdoor Art Show. The show will be held Sunday, Oct. 18, as part of the Festival activities. Shown here are (L-R) Mrs. Stephen Ryan, chairman; Mrs. Edward Ruszyk, co-chairman; Mrs. John Janeczek and Mrs. Joseph LaSusa (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Traditional, World-Wide 'Day of Bread' Celebration Today

Man's most venerable symbol for all food—bread—long remembered in religion, ritual and prayer... in song, story, art and history... now has its day.

Joining with people of Europe, South America, Asia and Africa, the United States this year marks Tuesday, October 6, as the international "Day of Bread." Harvest Festival Week, October 4-10, The tradition began thousands of years ago, presumably when man first paused to thank those forces of nature beyond his control for the annual harvest. His granaries stored food for winter, seed for spring. Certainly it was time, solemn yet joyous, to celebrate.

The custom revived as a formal occasion in West Germany in 1953 and has since spread year by year. Here, for a first time in 1969, President Nixon, the governors of more than 35 states and the mayors of scores of cities proclaimed the event. This year, similar recognition of even greater magnitude is planned for the "Day of Bread."

Taking heed of the growing awareness of hunger and malnutrition at home and abroad, sponsors of the rallying cry, "Hunger Fighter Worldwide," for the 1970 event. Wheat producers, flour millers, bakers and those associated with the industry have appealed for broad backing of their pledge to help solve the problem. Even in affluent, prosperous United States, surveys show evidence of malnutrition at all income levels. In some areas as many as one in every five suffers chronic hunger.

How does your bread rank as a hunger fighter? Whether you make it yourself or buy it baked, enriched breadstuffs serve as an important source of protein, thiamine, riboflavin, niacin, iron and calcium—nutrients essential to growth and health. Bread contributes these nutrients to diet with relatively few calories and a small amount of fat. Breads and cereals are one of the groups of foods recommended for daily consumption in the "Basic Four" guide, along with meats, fruits and vegetables and dairy products.

The sponsors remind us, however, that it requires as much as eight pounds of cereal in cattle or poultry feed to produce one pound of meat, and that, as more and more people crowd the world, we become increasingly dependent on grain products for good nutrition. Moreover, studies demonstrate that a diet with as much as 95 per cent bread and only five per cent meat provides sufficient protein. In fact, such experimental diets result in weight loss and lowering of blood serum cholesterol, the physician's index to a person's susceptibility to heart disease, the nation's number one killer.

What about the standard, commercial, American loaf of enriched bread? Aren't other breads better? Again, university analysis of breads from many different parts of the world showed only just slightly more nutrition than ours, and that was a loaf popular in Finland. But happily, with the great variety of American breads available in bake shops and supermarkets, we can almost always find any kind we prefer.

Except, it should be noted, variety breads may or may not be enriched, and everyone needs each day the ration of B-vitamins and minerals used in enrichment. Bakers and millers recently asked the government to let them raise by three to four times the amount of iron in enriched products as a preventive step in combatting signs of anemia, particularly apparent among women and children. The industry also asked the Food and Nutrition Board, the ultimate authority in such matters, for support of a plan to double the amount of thiamine and riboflavin in the enrichment formula.

The universal enrichment of all cereal based foods is another approach. Several leading supermarket chains have recently undertaken a program to make sure that every single cereal-based item on their shelves—breads, buns, crackers, biscuits, flour, cookies, mixes, breakfast foods, etc.—are all enriched.

Extra nutrients are already added to enriched flour destined for overseas or domestic relief, including vitamin A and sometimes the amino acid, lysine, to make what might be called "super-enriched" foods. Thus on the "Day of Bread" 1970, the product man recognized more than 6,000 years ago as his symbol for food and security, appears to gain stature everyday as a "Hunger Fighter Worldwide."

TAKE YOUR CHOICE — Delicate sandwiches for a special tea or reception. "Burgers" for a hearty snack, or just bread as an integral part of any meal. Bread probably appears on American tables more often than any other food. October 6 is the international "Day of Bread," a day when families all around the world will be celebrating the harvest and recognizing bread as man's ancient symbol of peace and plenty.

Bachelor Advises How to Get a Man

By VIVAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The "how to get a man theme" doesn't change much over the years. A handsome twenty-six year old man, startled a group of women at a business luncheon by telling them he wasn't married.

"In this day of early marriages..." gasped one thirtyish, married woman. "Why not," the women said in chorus. "I haven't met the right girl," he answered. He was a 'sitting duck' for the questions, and they did fly... "are you shy," "are you broke," "What kind of girls have you met."

One woman zeroed in by giving the statistics on two "beautiful daughters."

As it turned out, the man wants to get married. He has lots and lots of dates, but he doesn't want to marry "a swinger," he says. He and some fellows with whom he went to college go out with girls regularly, but they don't like "the modern package," he says.

"Be more explicit," was the pleas from his listeners. Here are some of his thoughts:

1. He wants a girl who acts like a girl, who is happy she is a girl. She can wear anything she likes—pants, shorts, minis, maxis, providing she is feminine. But he doesn't want a cigar smoking wife. He'll do the cigar smoking.

2. She should be interested in a home, and if she loves it, she will not mind running it.

3. She should be able to cook and to enjoy it. He doesn't want to live with someone who complains every time she must boil an egg.

4. She can have a career, but he hopes she'll be willing to give it up if they have children—and he wants children.

5. He wants her to make him feel important so that he can get ahead in his job. He knows older men who have had their masculinity whittled away by wifely criticism, he says.

6. He'd like her to be cheerful and positive rather than gloomy and negative about life. We are here on earth, let's make the best of it, he says.

7. He'll join her in a sport she enjoys—skiing, skating, tennis—he is a golfer and fisherman, but he will not demand that she go along with these ideas.

8. They must be a team in everything they do. He "couldn't stand to be married to someone who always wants to go in the opposite direction." The marriage wouldn't last long.

9. He'd like her to have some regard for the money he earns, and she should be a sharer. He doesn't like selfish women.

10. She should have respect for his religious views, his politics, his family, and he will respect her interests and associations.

CONGRATULATIONS!

Yours! This Lovely Ruby and Crystal Wedding Bowl is our engagement gift to you with our very best wishes for a life of health, happiness and prosperity. Legend has it that the original wedding bowl was placed before the bride and groom and the wedding guests filed past while filling it with money. We, of course have lost track of this colorful custom but the wedding bowl persists as a unique entity... only now, it is given as a centerpiece and treasured as a memento. Our true replica of a Colonial antique is yours without any obligation. Just come in and get yours; it's gift-wrapped and ready. We are in the romantic business of making homes and it is our continuing pleasure to place at least one piece of our homefurnishings in every new home. We would be delighted to give you yours!

Present this ad any time prior to wedding date. Also with our compliments... booklets on the care of your furniture and a sample bottle of Guardsman furniture polish.

ENGLISH APPLE PUDDING

English
Apple Pudding
10-12 servings

Two cups enriched dry bread crumbs
One and one-half cups sifted flour

Two teaspoons baking soda
One teaspoon cinnamon
One-quarter teaspoon salt
One-quarter teaspoons all-spice

One-quarter teaspoon ground cloves
One-quarter teaspoon nutmeg

Two eggs
Three-quarter cup light molasses

One-third cup oil
One can (eight ounce) whole cranberry sauce
One can (one pound, four ounce) apple slices, drained
One cup (four ounces) chopped walnuts

*Spoon flour into dry measuring cup; level. Do not scoop.

Stir dry ingredients together. Blend together eggs, molasses, oil and cranberry sauce; combine with apple slices, nuts and dry ingredients. Blend well. Turn into well-greased two-quart pudding mold; cover with lid. Place on rack in deep kettle, fill with hot water to half the mold's height and bring to a boil. Boil gently two hours; add more hot water, if necessary. Remove from kettle, uncover and let stand at least five minutes. Loosen edge of pudding with knife, plunge quickly into cold water and unmold. Serve with Hard Sauce.

NOTE: If mold has no cover use double thickness of wax paper or aluminum foil, tie securely and steam for two and one-half hours.

Hard Sauce

One-half cup butter
Two cups sifted confectioners sugar

One egg white
Two and one-half to three teaspoons brandy extract

Cream butter until softened. Add sugar gradually and beat until smooth and fluffy. Beat in egg white; blend in brandy extract.

Look Here Mrs. Homemaker!

ADD NEW FLAVOR TO EVERYDAY FOODS

Just a dash, or two of an herb or spice will add new and exciting flavor to your everyday cooking, says Phyllis W. Barlow, Extension Home Economist. But be careful not to overdo it. Appreciation for the subtle taste of herbs in cooking must be cultivated slowly. Try only a bit of each new seasoning, tasting carefully to get the right amount.

To be sure your herbs and spices are always fresh and full-bodied, keep them in tightly covered jars in your refrigerator or other cold storage. Replace them when their freshness is gone. Herbs and spices can be purchased at all food stores. Or plant a small patch of your favorite herbs in a corner of your garden. They grow best where they will not be disturbed, and they will increase every year.

BREADS:

Biscuits: Add mustard or thyme to dry ingredients. Serve with butter balls rolled in poppy seed.
Rolls: Add caraway seed to dough or sprinkle dill seed on top of rolls before baking.
Dumplings: Add parsley flakes in the batter or add a bit of rosemary.

Waffles: Add poultry seasoning to batter and serve with creamed chicken.

EGGS AND CHEESE:

Scrambled eggs: Sprinkle with savory or tarragon.
Deviled eggs: Add savory, or mustard and tarragon.
French omelet: Just a pinch of basil with your usual seasoning.
Cottage cheese: Add dill, caraway seed or onion salt to taste.

Cheese spreads: Add thyme and celery salt to soft cheese, serve with crackers.

DESSERTS:

Sugar cookies: Stir anise or cummin seed into the dry ingredients.
Chocolate pudding: Add a dash of mace or cinnamon.
Rice Pudding: Apple-pie spice gives it extra goodness.
Cherry pie: A dash of nutmeg or mace.
Pineapple: Top slices of pineapple with cream cheese, add a light sprinkle of cinnamon and powdered cloves and broil.

SOUPS AND APPETIZERS:

Beef soup: Add mixed herbs while it simmers.
Tomato soup: A pinch or two of sage and garlic salt.
Chicken soup: A pinch of rosemary or a dash of paprika.

Vegetable soup: Flavor to taste with thyme, chili powder or marjoram.

French onion soup: Add poppy seed and a dash of savory or marjoram.
Tomato-juice cocktail: A pinch of dill seed or a bit of oregano.

Stuffed clery: Mix caraway seed with cream cheese for the filling. Sprinkle with paprika for color.

Vegetables and Salads

Mashed potatoes: Sprinkle dill seed while they are being mashed or season with basil or rosemary as they cook.

Corn: Season any style of canned corn with chili powder. Green beans: Add a pinch of garlic salt or thyme.

Peas: Add mint flakes or a bit of savory while they are simmering.

Meats, Fish and Poultry:

Pork chops: Sprinkle lightly with sage or thyme, or try a bit of cinnamon.

Meatballs: Good with savory, mustard, garlic salt or a bit of all of them.

Fried chicken: Sprinkle pieces with thyme and marjoram, roll in flour and fry.

Hamburger patties: Try adding some basil.
Beef stew: Simmer with mixed-vegetable flakes or add basil.

Lamb chops: Before broiling, sprinkle with dill seed, or you may prefer a dash of marjoram.

Fish fillets: Sprinkle with tarragon or marjoram before baking or broiling.

Veal cutlets: Pound in marjoram with your other seasoning. Let stand 15 minutes before cooking.

Herbed Butters for Vegetables:

To two tablespoons butter or margarine, add any of the following combinations of spices. Heat and pour over cooked vegetables. Toss lightly, season with salt and pepper to taste.

One-fourth teaspoon ground dill seed and one-fourth teaspoon oregano. Especially good with spinach, carrots, zucchini, broccoli, beets and lima beans.

One-half teaspoon chili powder and one-fourth teaspoon oregano. Try this on broccoli, carrots, onions and cauliflower.

One-fourth teaspoon savory and one-fourth teaspoon dry mustard. Especially good with snap beans, onions, asparagus, broccoli, carrots, green peas and fresh lima beans.

One-fourth teaspoon ground nutmeg and one-fourth teaspoon ground cinnamon. Good with acorn squash, carrots, onions, snap beans, beets and sweet potatoes.

Different Meats Likes Different Herbs

Beef: thyme, rosemary, basil, marjoram, summer savory.

Pork: thyme, sage, basil, chives, rosemary, marjoram.

Veal: sage, thyme, basil, rosemary, summer savory, tarragon.

Lamb: mint, dill, rosemary, marjoram, summer savory.

Fish: parsley, sage, thyme, basil, fennel, chives, dill, chervil.

Poultry: summer savory, sage, chervil, tarragon, thyme.

Socials, Meetings, Programs

Auction Planned

The Merry Mixers will meet Saturday, Oct. 17 at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Thomas Seamon, RD 2, Saugerties. This month's meeting will feature an auction of miscellaneous household items donated by members. In addition, the identity of secret pals will be revealed and gifts will be exchanged.

At last month's meeting, committees were appointed for the year. They include Mrs. Jack Parker, sunshine; Mrs. Herb Scott and Mrs. Isaac Samuel, telephone; Mrs. J. Terry Carlisle, scrap book.

A work shop was held Sept. 17 at the home of Mrs. Herb Scott for the Christmas open house.

Hostesses for the next meeting will be Mrs. Edward Madison and Mrs. J. Terry Carlisle.

Halloween Party

Final plans for the Halloween party for children and adults of the area, and a Christmas party will be on the agenda for the Thursday evening meeting of Good Neighbor Social Club which is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock at St. Liberata Hall, East Kingston. All members are urged to attend.

Auxiliaries to Meet

Hasbrouck Engine Company No. 1 Auxiliary of Connelly will host the Town of Esopus Ladies Auxiliary meeting Thursday, Oct. 22 at 8 p.m. in the Town Hall at Port Jervis.

Hasbrouck Engine Auxiliary members are requested to donate suitable items for a social hour which will take place after the meeting.

Secretaries of Port Jervis, St. Remy and Rifton Auxiliaries are reminded to contact Sara Wells of Connelly as to the number of ladies planning to attend from each auxiliary.

Needlework Program

The Women's Club of YWCA will start off this year with an interesting program on Needlework. Today, an increasing number of women are taking up their needles, knitting, crocheting, crewel and rug hooking, making what could be called a needlework explosion.

Mrs. Audria Warren of St. Remy Knit Shop in Hurley, assisted by Mrs. George Uhlen, will present a display and explanation of needlework techniques. A number of hand-knitted and crocheted fashions will also be modeled. Those interested in this "needlework explosion" are invited to attend the Women's Club meeting at 2:15 p.m. on Thursday. All women of the community may attend. Guests as well as new members are always welcome.

Election Scheduled

The Tongore Garden Club will hold its final meeting of the season on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Robert Larsen in West Shokan at which time Mrs. Kendall Every will report the nominating committee and election and installation of officers for 1971 will take place.

The business meeting will begin at 1:30 p.m. Mrs. Morris Kwik will give a report on the flower show which was held August 1.

After the meeting, Mrs. Jean Falknor will present a program entitled "Autumn." Refreshments will be served with Mrs. Elmer Olson acting as co-hostess.

The Club held its September meeting at the home of Mrs. George Scherrer. Dr. Morris Kwik introduced Mrs. Elizabeth Burroughs, Kelly who presented a talk and slide program on her grandfather, John Burroughs, and his work, especially featuring wild flowers of the area. Some of the slides were made from pictures taken by John Burroughs.

Refreshments were served. Frederick Wolff was co-hostess.

Flea Market

As its annual fund raising event, the Study Club of New Paltz will stage a "Flea Market" at the barns on the property of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lent, 275 Main Street, New Paltz, with ample parking provided by Simmons Plaza and Rondout Bank parking lots.

The Market will open at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 14. Antiques will be featured. There will also be a table of bric-a-brac, oddments and bargains galore. A table offering home-baked goods is also planned, as well as one displaying local crafts. For the convenience of shoppers, light refreshments will be available at the snack bar.

The ways and means committee of Study Club holds a yearly fund-raising event to provide continuing support for its civic and charitable projects. These include Girl Scouts, the Elting Memorial Library, and a monthly party for the boys of Deer Cottage at Highland School for Children.

Women of the Moose

"Christmas in October" Chapter Night will be held Wednesday by Women of the Moose, Kingston. Committee chairman is Caroline Hyde, assisted by Mary VanKleeck, co-chairman, and Ottilie Konneuch, Gladys Reichert, Elsie Nessel.

Enrollment will be held and all members are urged to attend.

Fashion Show

Final plans for the fashion show sponsored by Rosendale Woman's Club will be discussed Thursday at 8 p.m. at a meeting in Villa Bianco Restaurant, Rosendale.

The show, entitled Fall Festival of Fashions, is scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 22, at Williams Lake Hotel at 8 p.m. Chairman Mrs. Emma Pezzello has announced tickets are in the mail. Those requesting additional tickets may obtain them from her or any club member. Awards will be made and refreshments served.

Meeting hostesses will be the Mmes. Daniel McMonagle, Mary Hill and Catherine O'Leary.

DAR Conference

Frank Is Home for Series

BALTIMORE (AP) — The biggest machine in Cincinnati this weekend won't necessarily be red.

The peaking Baltimore Orioles qualified Monday as a formidable World Series match for Cincinnati's slugging Reds by thrashing Minnesota 6-1 to complete a methodical three-game sweep of the American League championship playoffs.

"We want the choice out this year," said Orioles sparkplug Frank Robinson, for whom the series, opening Saturday at Cincinnati's new Riverfront Stadium, will mark a second homecoming of sorts. The former Red star was dealt to the Orioles five years ago.

"I was back there for the All-Star game this summer and it was a lot of fun," he recalled. "Now, it's for real. And we're ready."

Robinson spoke of the Orioles' readiness after they proved it

Palmer, who also won the finale of last year's three-game Twin killing in the first playoff of AL division champs, scattered seven hits . . . and possibly earned a series-opening start against the National League champion Reds.

Cincinnati capped a three-game sweep of the NL playoffs Monday with a 3-2 victory over Pittsburgh.

While the Reds were taking their league apart from the outset, the Orioles shook off the spectre of a humiliating series setback at the hands of the New York Mets and rolled to 108 victories—tops in the majors.

They won their last 11 regular season games, then smacked the Twins 10-6 and 11-3 at Minnesota last weekend before closing out the set at home.

Manager Earl Weaver shrugged off the winning streak, however, while discussing his outlook on the upcoming confrontation.

"Sure, we've won 14 in a row," he said. "But they don't count now. It's not the winning streak I like, it's the type of people we have on this ball club. If we had lost 14 in a row I'd still think this team can beat Cincinnati."

"Cincinnati probably is the best hitting team in baseball, but I think our pitching and defense is better," said Brooks Robinson, who duplicated his 1969 playoff spree against the Twins by cracking seven hits in the series.

Baltimore's pitching and defense certainly was too much for Minnesota. The Twins committed two errors in each game while the Orioles played errorless ball all the way. And Minnesota pitchers were raked for 36 hits and six home runs, two of them by Dave Johnson, in the one-sided series.

"I don't think we played as well as we are capable of against them," understated Bill Rigney, the Twins' first-year manager. "We gave them too much in this series, something we didn't do during the regular season."

While Rigney and the Twins headed homeward with thoughts of what might have been, the Orioles set their sights on the Big Red Machine.

"I think we're going into the series better prepared this year," Frank Robinson said. "It wasn't that we weren't up for the Mets a year ago. We just weren't ready for them."

"Some of us took three or four days off in a row after we clinched our division. It affected our timing. But we profited by

Sparky Loves Champagne

CINCINNATI (AP) — Not too many years ago Sparky Anderson was screwing legs into tables in a furniture factory, his baseball career apparently over.

Now he's the manager of the National League champion Cincinnati Reds preparing for Saturday's opening of the World Series against American League champion Baltimore.

Anderson recalled those lean days Monday as he stood dripping with champagne in the Cincinnati dressing room after his Reds had defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates for a three-game sweep of the National League playoffs.

The Reds took the payoff game on a play that characterizes their manager's philosophy of the game—aggressiveness and the willingness to gamble.

The score was tied 2-2 in the eighth, at Cincinnati's Riverfront Stadium. Ty Cline was on second and Pete Rose at first. Bobby Tolan lashed a single to left and Cline rounded third just beating Willie Stargell's throw to the plate with what turned out to be the winning run in a 3-2 game.

"We try to play aggressive baseball," said Anderson. "Sure we've had guys thrown out at the plate, but that's the chance you take," observed the guy who six years ago was fired by Toronto in the International League and turned to work in the furniture factory.

The 36-year-old Anderson, youngest manager in the major leagues, took a moment from explaining his strategy in the deciding game against Eastern Division champion Pittsburgh to announce Gary Nolan as the Reds' first-game pitcher against Baltimore Saturday in the World Series.

Nolan won 18 games during the regular season and the first of the playoffs. He'll probably be opposed by Orioles' Jim Palmer.

Cline, whose pinch triple starter the Reds' winning three-run rally in the 10th inning of the playoff opener, was called upon in the eighth inning Monday with two out and the bases empty.

He walked and moved to second on Rose's single.

Cline said he made up his mind to try for home as soon as he saw Tolan's hit to left.

As he rounded third he slipped and lost his balance completely, he related. "I lost Alex completely," he said, referring to third base coach Alex Grammas, who was waving and shouting for Cline to keep going to the plate.

"I didn't hear him either," Cline said. "but I knew he would want me to try and score."

Cline said that as he neared the plate he saw Pirates' catcher Manny Sanguillen go toward first. "I tried for the third base edge of the plate," he went on.

Stargell said Tolan's single wasn't as hard as he thought it was. "If it had been hit sharper I wouldn't have had to hurry," said the Pittsburgh left fielder, who has a good throwing arm. Sanguillen had to go to his right to get the throw and then dive back to his left. He just missed the tag and it meant Cincinnati's first National League pennant since 1961.

There were a number of dramatic moments in the hard-fought third and final game of the playoff. Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh had a tough decision when he lifted right-hander Bob Moose in favor of reliever Joe Gibbon with left-hand hitting Tolan coming up in the critical eighth.

"I went to the percentages," said Murtaugh, explaining why he decided to go to the left-handed Gibbon. "Tolan is a good hitter against right-handers too. Tolan hit the ball on the ground," added Murtaugh. "but it went in the hole."

Murtaugh summed up his team's quick exit from the playoffs this way: "It was just like our final games against the (New York) Mets that gave us the division. We got the big baseball breaks then. The Reds got the big baseball plays when they needed them in this series."

Moose was philosophical about his heart-breaking defeat. The right-hander gave up only four hits in the 7 2-3 innings he worked. Unfortunately for him, two of the hits were consecutive home runs in the first inning by Tony Perez and Johnny Bench.

"They were bad pitches," said Moose, who felt no pain in the tender elbow of his pitching arm which had threatened to keep him out of the playoff.

"You make a bad pitch and what can you do?"

"Our scouting report is that Baltimore is the best defensive club in baseball, has the best front-line pitching in the game and is the third or fourth best offensive team," he said.

Allen to Dodgers, Cards Obtain Two

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Richie Allen has departed after less than a year, and the St. Louis Cardinals say they're hoping to make the sacrifice of power for a more secure defense payoff in the National League.

The Cardinals, concerned with an aging combination at second base, made their move Monday by trading Allen to the Los Angeles Dodgers for infielder Ted Sizemore and catcher-outfielder Bob Stinson.

The 28-year-old Allen, acquired Oct. 8, 1969 in a seven-player deal from the Philadelphia Phillies, was sidelined the final 40 games of the 1970 season by a torn hamstring muscle. Nonetheless he socked 34 home runs, drove in 101 runs and hit .279.

In his place the Cardinals have the 24-year-old Sizemore, who began the Dodgers' past season as shortstop and moved to second base when the team reacquired Maury Wills.

The NL's rookie of the year in 1969 and a former minor league catcher, Sizemore batted .306 for the Dodgers in '70 and drove in 34 runs in 96 games.

The reason behind his acquisition, Cardinal General Manager Bing Devine said, was to shore up a defense rated the club's No. 1 problem.

Julian Javier is 34 going on 35, and he has to play less," said Devine in reference to Cardinal status at second base.

Bothered increasingly by back trouble, Javier was out of the lineup at intervals in 1970 and 31-year-old shortstop Dal Maxvill moved over to take his place.

Javier, Devine said, will be used as an extra with the arrival of Sizemore "especially pinch-hitting against left-handed pitchers."

The Dodgers, second in NL team batting, have needed a power hitter to drive home players who hit well for average but mainly with singles.

"We've looked for a long time," said Dodger Vice-President Al Campanis, "because we knew what we needed more than anything was a big bat in the middle of our line-up."

Campanis said a decision will be made during spring training on where Allen will play. With slick-fielding Wes Parker at first base, Allen probably will be stationed at third base or left field. Billy Grabarkewitz likely will be switched from third to second base.

Allen, who professed happiness in a Cardinal uniform, underwent none of turmoil here that checkered his six-season career with the Phillies.

"Allen did a fine job for us, and we never had any problems with him," said Cardinal Manager Red Schoendienst. "He was hurt the past few weeks, but he tried."

The deal was announced as Allen awaited minor surgery at Jewish Hospital. He was unavailable for comment.

Umps Decision Set Tomorrow

CINCINNATI (AP) — Major league umpires, who worked baseball's playoffs under temporary settlement of their contract dispute with management, will try to hammer out a final agreement Wednesday in New York.

Umpire Harry Wendelstedt said Monday umpire representatives will meet in Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's office to clear up the contract prior to the World Series, which starts here Saturday.

Under terms of the temporary settlement, the umpires will receive $3,000 for working the National and American League playoff games and $7,000 for the series. Umpires have asked for $5,000 and $10,000.

"We didn't want to be brutal," said Wendelstedt, explaining why the umpires called off their strike and agreed to work the AL games between Baltimore and Minnesota and the NL playoffs between Cincinnati and Pittsburgh.

"But we still have them by the necks," said Wendelstedt. "They're not going to bury us."

The umpires agreed to work the second playoff game only after last-minute negotiations with the owners and league officials.

Set Opening Dates Within Region '8'

NEW PALTZ Opening dates for controlled and non-controlled public hunting areas located within Region Eight, has been announced by the Regional Office of the Division of Fish and Wildlife at New Paltz.

Region Eight includes the counties of Ulster, Dutchess, Orange, Putnam, Rockland, Sullivan and Westchester. It presently has over 60,000 acres of public hunting land within its boundaries. These lands are leased to the Division by private landowners under the Fish and Wildlife Management Act.

In Dutchess County, a 6,500-acre controlled public hunting area, located near Verbank, has operated since 1962. The permit station for this area is located at the intersection of Camby and Coffin Roads off Route 82 east of Verbank. The area will also open for the small game season, Oct. 19.

The Columbia-Dutchess area, operated jointly with Region 7, will open Oct. 19. However, this area opened for woodcock hunting only, beginning Oct. 1. An area permit is not required for access to this area; however, Conservation Officers and Special Game Protectors patrol these non-controlled areas on a regular basis.

The Swan Lake area, located near Liberty, White Sulphur Springs and Swan Lake, is another non-controlled area which does not require an access permit. This area is open for all small game hunting beginning Oct. 1, concurrent with the remainder of the Southern Zone.

The Ellenville area, which is also operated on a non-controlled basis, is unique in that one portion of the area is Northwest of Route 209 and is in the Southern Zone. Since Route 209 is the boundary line the remainder of the area to the south and east is the South-Eastern Zone. The area north and west of Route 209 in the Southern Zone opened Oct. 1. The area south and east of Route 209 in the South Eastern Zone does not open until Oct. 19.

Rhinebeck Soccer Team Extends Winning Streak

RHINEBECK Rhinebeck High School soccer extended its winning skein to four-in-a-row Monday afternoon in taking Cardinal Farley to task, 4-1.

The Rhinebeck Indians have a perfect 3-0 mark to lead the Northern Division of the DCSL, plus a non-league 2-0 win last Friday at New Paltz.

It was once again a diverse attack that accounted for the four goals. Import, Augie Grutle sank two goals from the field in the second period at 4:17 and 5:23.

Grutle was placed at center halfback in the second half, and Coach Ralph Stuart proclaimed that his passes bolstered the scoring capability of the line.

Sandy Jack broke the scoring ice at 7:06, first period, on a longer and rapped another one into the net at 4:01. Fourth period, on a lead pass from Bob McCarney.

Farley's center forward Mirzuka scored the Cadets' goal at 10:28 of the second period.

Rhinebeck goalie Steve Skeene amassed 12 saves and sub Paul Kane added another, while Farley goalie J. Davalia had eight stops to his credit.

Late Passaic Goal Edges Sport Club Booters, 4-3

MORGAN HILL Karl Von Borkolu has returned and the undermanned Kingston Sport Club Kickers are happy to have him back in the fold.

Von Borkolu, the Dutch-born right halfback, tried to make connections with a Major Division but was unable to make proper financial deal and gave up the idea. The Major Division loss is the KSC's gain.

Karl's commanding presence in the lineup didn't save the Kickers from another defeat but his two goals kept the score close, as Kingston bowed for the third straight time, 4-3, to Passaic (N. J.) Sportfreunde, which was making its first appearance over at Oehler's Soccer Stadium.

A goal by outside left William Brandel, with less than three minutes left to play, gave Passaic victory in a hard fought, rough and tumble contest in which tempers flared frequently.

The Kickers had fought back from a 3-1 deficit to tie the score 3-3 on an 11-meter penalty kick by Veteran Jimmy Reinhardt. But three minutes from the finish, Kingston's rookie goalie—Joel Tomson—was maneuvered out of position in a wild scramble in front of the Kingston goal and Brandel came out of a pack of players in front of the net to boot home the winning goal.

The linesups:

Passaic (4): Borosch Goal; Neppi RFB; Schlesswohl LFB; Davies RHB; Timar CFB; Mitrovits OR; Mohan IR; Vollmer CF; M. Brandel IL; W. Brandel OL.

Kingston (3): Tomson Goal; Neppi RFB; O. Weber LFB; Von Borkolu RHB; Soidemann CFB; Reinhardt LHB; DiBella OR; Benzenhofer IR; Vollmer CF; Mohr IL; Stokdal OL.

Bill Munson Arms Lions

DETROIT (UPI) — Quarterback Bill Munson's right arm should be more than a little bit tired today—it just finished carrying the Detroit Lions to the top of the Central Division standings of the National Football Conference.

Munson abandoned a running-based attack plan when the Chicago Bears, minus Gale Sayers, seized a 7-0 halftime lead Monday night in their televised National Football League game. The result of the strategy was a 28-14 Detroit comeback victory.

The Lions' quarterback started the second half by hitting four straight passes, three of them on first down, and Detroit turned a 17-yard field goal into the first of three third-period touchdowns which gave them their third straight win and fifth in a row over Chicago.

"We just couldn't get going in the first half," Munson said after the Lions had dealt the Bears their first loss in three games this season. "So we decided to put the ball in the air."

"We threw more on first down because they blitzed all the time on first down—so we threw to loosen them up," to notch its third TD of the period—until wide receiver Larry Walton, another second-year pro, grabbed a 13-yard Munson pass for his first pro score.

Chicago's offense, held to only five first downs in the opening half, bogged down on that first drive and Errol Mann came in to kick a 17-yard field goal—only to be creamed by Ron Smith for a roughing the place-kicker penalty which gave the Lions the ball with a first down on the Bears' five.

Two plays later, Mel Farr went over from three yards out for the first of his customary pair of touchdowns. He's scored twice in all three Detroit games this year. His second to Monday night was a 20-yard romp which was set up when Dick Lebeau returned the first of his two interceptions 42 yards to the Chicago 31.

Middle Linebacker Mike Lucic pounced on a Chicago fumble to set up a seven-yard scoring jaunt by second-year pro Albie Taylor, his first pro score. Munson set this score up with a 31-yard pass on third down to tight end Charlie Sanders.

Detroit stayed on the ground Bears' wide man Dick Gordon burned all-pro cornerback Lem Barney twice for touchdowns of 20 and 61 yards.

"I consider it an honor to beat him twice in one game," Gordon said. "He's the best there is."

Chicago piled up six first downs in the opening 30 minutes but the Detroit defense, statistically the best in the NFC going into the latest round of games, gave up only two more the rest of the way.

Munson finished with 13 completions in 19 attempts for gross yardage of 229. Farr was 76 yards on 16 attempts while the game's leading rusher with the best figure compiled by a Chicago runner was the 21 Mike Hull took 11 carries to attain.

Some of the 58,210 fans who saw the game in person started booing when the Lions' offense bogged down in the late second period.

"It probably didn't do us any harm," Munson said before adding in what looked like a tongue-in-cheek fashion: "They stayed right with us all the way."

"Certainly Detroit is one of the roughest teams in the Central Division," Bears coach Jim Dooley said. "They proved that by going out in the third quarter and doing it to us."

Dooley lamented "mistakes" in the second half much like Munson was moaning Detroit's problems in the first half: Fumbles, interceptions and penalties.

"No running, no running," Dooley lamented. The Bears only got 38 yards on the ground in the contest.

The Lions are 3-0 in the "black and blue" division while Chicago, Minnesota and Green Bay all are 2-1. Each defeat suffered by a Central Division team has come at the hands of a divisional foe.

IT'S OUR ANNUAL EXCLUSIVE

BIG PLUS

Ohio State Number 1

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ohio State has solidified its position as the nation's No. 1 collegiate football team.

The Buckeyes of Coach Woody Hayes, who a week ago were being pressured strongly by Texas for the No. 1 berth in the weekly United Press International Board of Coaches ratings, have gained additional support this week and have opened up a substantial lead over the second-ranked Longhorns.

Ohio State, which routed Duke, 34-10, last Saturday for its second straight victory, received 18 first place votes from the 35-member coaches' board this week to only nine for Texas and as a result the Buckeyes are 35 points ahead in the ratings. Points are awarded on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis for votes from first through 10th place.

Texas, which received 17 first place votes last week, was narrowly upset by UCLA on Saturday. The Longhorns needed a touchdown in the final 12 seconds to salvage a 20-17 triumph.

The Longhorns hung on to the No. 2 spot in the ratings, but they are now under heavy pressure for that position from Notre Dame. The Irish blanked Michigan State, 29-0, to run their record to 3-0 and four coaches sought fit to name them the top team in the country. Notre Dame, with 277 points, trails Texas by just 14 points in the ratings.

Southern California also bettered its point standing, even though the Trojans remain fixed in the No. 4 spot. The Trojans got three first place votes after routing Oregon State, 45-13, and have 245 points, 30 more than they had a week ago.

There were two major upsets last Saturday among the top 10 teams and that has caused a reshuffling of this week's list. Stanford, No. 5 a week ago, was upset by Purdue, 26-14, and has been dropped in the ratings to No. 12, and Colorado, No. 7 last week, lost to Kansas State, 21-22, and has fallen to No. 18.

Coleman Squad Beats Farley

KINGSTON The harriers of John A. Coleman HS boosted their record to 4-1 yesterday with a strong 15-49 victory over Cardinal Farley Military Academy.

Coleman swept the first six places with senior Mike Droulette leading the way at 13:34 on the Hurley Avenue course. Steve Peruso followed three seconds later and was trailed by Statesmen Pat Nee, Don Tegeiler, Paul Schiller and Paul Schatzel.

Coach Ken Ward was pleased with his team's effort, especially since it was the first meet that a Coleman runner finished on top. The Statesmen have grabbed three straight and will look for another on Friday at Ellenville.

Pobbi-Asare Leads New Paltz

NEW PALTZ season on a penalty kick. The Elliott Pobbi-Asare poured in four goals to pace State University to a 7-0 clubbing of Potsdam State here yesterday. The Ghanaian forward tallied twice in the second and two more times in the third as the Hawks put it all together for the first time this season.

The win, New Paltz's third straight after a 1-0 loss, was against a team that wasn't considered a pushover. Potsdam had a 2-0-1 mark going into the contest with wins over a strong Oneonta team as well as a tough aggregation from the University of Montreal. Their tie was with Cortland.

New Paltz opened up early. Rosendale's Bernie Schaeffer set up the first score, getting it to Gerry Soulios who beat goalie Al Brake at 1:16. Minutes later, All-American Bob Hippie collected his fifth goal of the season on a penalty kick. The Indonesian star has never missed on a free boot in his college career.

Tsegaye Teye made it 3-0 at 9:00 of the first after being fed by the versatile Pobbi-Asare. After that goal, Pobbi took care of business by himself.

His first score came three minutes into the second session. Soulios set it up with a beautiful back heel pass. The next one at 11:32, was driven into the cage after the former Kingston Club star had taken a pass from Teye.

Goal three (number six for the team) was assisted by Schaeffer, a Rondout Valley HS product, at 5:39. Elliott wound things up less than a minute later with a Guy Cassarini assist.

The outburst gave Pobbi-Asare seven goals for the year and put him in excellent shape to tear up the New Paltz record book that Gene Ventriglia wrote when he was an All-American for the college several years ago. Hippie, too, could finish his career by topping Gino's unofficial mark of 18 for a season.

The Hawk shutout was authored by starter Bob Sanborn, who went three quarters, and junior Jamie Lipman who preserve the whitewash.

Coach Bob Durkin was more played the fourth and made the game's toughest save to than satisfied with the win: "We finally played like we're able to," he said, "we played beautiful soccer."

Durkin pointed out that it was a good time for his forces to "put it all together" since their next opponent will be East Stroudsburg State at home on Wednesday. The Cardinals are one of the stronger teams

Middletown Beats Kingston

MIDDLETOWN Kingston HS hadn't lost a soccer game all season but coach John Hunter kept saying his team would have to score more and perform better overall if they were to win their DUSO games, especially against defending champion Middletown. Apparently Hunter knew what he was talking about as his team fell short here yesterday, the Middies winning 4-1.

third in league play as they go after their fourth straight crown. Kingston had won their first four of the season but this was their only DUSO contest.

Middletown was led by center forward Paul Hayes' two goal effort. Hayes converted in the first quarter after taking a cross from Vince Fratto, then put in another in the second giving the homeside the half-time lead.

Kingston cut the deficit in half early in the third session. A violation in the penalty area enabled Tom Barton to be awarded with a penalty kick which he promptly turned into a score. But Fratto knocked the air out of the Maroon balloon with his tally just into the fourth quarter and George Weyant followed with another to give Middletown the insurance marker.

Hunter said his team played "outstanding ball" in the first and third quarters but in the second quarter they "relaxed" and in the fourth they "quit". The Kingston coach thought that the key play was a questionable call in period

NFA Downs Locals; Cabell Takes First

By IRA FUSFELD

KINGSTON country team found one, despite a tough 25-30 loss to Newburgh Free Academy here yesterday.

John Cabell, five feet five inches, 125 pounds, who didn't really figure in Gabriele's plans for the season, continued his steady improvement with a strong kick and a first place finish in the meet.

Cabell, quickly becoming known as the Super Soph, trailed Newburgh's Jim Sciamanna by some six yards as the two came out of Forsyth Park and into Dietz Stadium for the final 200 yards. At this point, the strongest of the Maroon Young Lions turned it on, zoomed past his Goldback rival and won going away by six yards. Cabell's winning time was 1:57. Kingston's top time in two years.

The road to Cabell's first victory has been straight. Against Middletown on Sept. 21 he came in fifth. Four days later he moved up to third against Poughkeepsie. Then on Sept. 28 he and Charles Pirich of Monticello tied for first in a race with the latter being awarded the win. Saturday Cabell was nosed out again,

New York Lost More Than Football Tilt

By United Press International
Coach Webb Ewbank of the New York Jets may soon have a better team in the hospital than on the playing field.

Ewbank's problems grew Sunday when two more starters suffered time-consuming injuries. Fullback Matt Snell, a devastating blocker who went into the Buffalo game as the American Football Conference's leading rusher, was lost for the season with a ruptured achilles tendon. Surgery was performed Sunday night and the former Ohio State Star's Pro career could be finished.

Also lost indefinitely in the Buffalo loss was offensive tackle Roger Finnie, who was chosen the Jets' most improved player following the exhibition season.

Injuries have proven costly to the Jets this season. All-star end Gerry Philbin was lost for three months after an opening pre-season game injury against Buffalo and is not expected to see action until Nov. 1. Don Maynard, who has caught more passes for more yardage than any player in pro history, has been almost useless to the Jets this season with his variety of leg ailments. Another member of the walking wounded, defensive tackle Steve Thompson, will play against Miami Saturday night despite broken Jake Scott (shoulder) and cornerback Tim Foley (thumb) are questionable for Miami's Saturday game against the Jets.

Norm Van Brocklin, whose Atlanta team upset San Francisco Sunday, called Falcons' tight end Jim Mitchell, "the best tight end in football," and predicted "if he keeps playing the way he has lately, he should be All-Pro."

Mitchell caught six passes against the Forty Niners and Falcons' quarterback Bob Berry said the second-year player from Prairie View, "is big tough and fast and has the best hands I ever saw on a big man."

Offensive guard Gene Upshaw of the San Diego Raiders credited selfishness with the team's poor start this season. "We're playing like a bunch of individuals," said Upshaw. "All anyone seems to care about is himself."

"They think they can walk out on the field and beat teams like us," said assistant coach Monte Clark of the Dolphins about the Raiders, who lost only one game last year and tied one in three games this season.

"There aren't any easy teams in the league anymore and the Raiders had better realize it," said Clark. "They don't seem to be serious about football."

Napoles Tells Fans: 'You Only Saw Half'

NEW YORK (UPI)—The round of a 10-round non-title evening's work was over for welterweight champion Jose Napoles, and he was in a hurry to get back to his hotel.

"Just say that they only saw half of me in the ring," the 31-year-old Mexican said, and then he pulled his robe around him tightly and hurried out of Madison Square Garden without taking a shower while his train beside the right eye, and a flurry of punches knocked down the Puerto Rican-born New Yorker with a minute left in the eighth. In the ninth, Napoles moved in quickly and put down the 34-year-old Toro with 28 seconds left in the ninth again midway through the round, and a minute later referee Jimmy Devlin waved the fight was over as Toro cringed with his back to Napoles to avoid more punishment.

"I had to turn away," Toro said between clenched teeth as his trainer tried to tape his split eyelids back together. "I couldn't see anymore. I didn't fight the way I should have from the start."

The victory over the ninth-ranked Toro in Napoles' Eastern debut, boosted his record to 50-4, including 42 knockouts. Toro now has a 27-13 record. The champion weighed 150

Dear Abby

Her Love Triangle

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am a middle-aged widow in love with a divorced man, but I feel like "the other" woman in an impossible triangle. Not the usual triangle of husband, wife and other woman, but that of daughter, father and other woman.

Kenneth's daughter is 26 and unmarried, and I doubt if she will ever marry. Her father is her whole life. She doesn't work, and seems content to stay at home with him. She doesn't date. They go everywhere together — theater, concerts, vacation trips. Daughter suffered a nervous breakdown a few years ago, but seems all right now, but she still leans on "daddy" for everything.

Kenneth wants me to marry him. He has assured me his daughter will not live with us, but I'm afraid if he leaves her she will go to pieces again. I would love to marry this man, but I have so many fears and doubts. Should I try to find happiness with someone else, or should I marry him anyway?

THE OTHER WOMAN: DEAR OTHER: Even though Kenneth probably meant well, by allowing his daughter to stay at home and play the "wife" role, instead of encouraging her to make a social life of her own, he's partly responsible for her unhealthy dependence on him. Obviously since he was able to fall in love with you and "assure" you that if you marry him he will leave his daughter, he apparently isn't as "sick" as she is. But he should consider how this will affect his daughter — whose stability is probably marginal to begin with. She will need psychotherapy to help her adjust to "losing" her whole life. Kenneth is entitled to a life of his own. So are you. And so is the daughter. The best advice I can offer you is to hold off marrying him until all your fears and doubts are resolved, which could take longer than you care to wait.

DEAR ABBY: If your husband couldn't hardly wait for the hunting season to open, and then he took off in the middle of the night for a five-day hunting trip and forgot to take his rifle, what would you think?

HIS WIFE: DEAR WIFE: I would think that he did not intend to shoot whatever it was that he set out to hunt.

DEAR ABBY: Last January, my fiancé and I decided on November 21 for our wedding date. I told my best girl friend and asked her to be my maid of honor. She accepted. A few months later, I asked her to go shopping with me to price wedding gowns and she said she "thought" she could spare "a few hours" as she had other things to do. She went with me, and didn't say much.

A few weeks later this girl friend told me that she was going to announce HER wedding plans — to take place two weeks before MINE! She also told me she wouldn't be able to be my maid of honor because she'd be on HER honeymoon.

We had known each other for many years and we were close as sisters. We have the same circle of friends, which will make it hard on them with wedding showers, bridesmaids dresses and all. Tell me, honestly, am I out of line for being—

DISGUSTED: DEAR DISGUSTED: No. Your friend obviously had some unhatched plans of her own going for her when you told her about your wedding plans. But you can't blame her for not disclosing her plans until she was sure they would materialize. For you to have expected your friend to have put off her wedding until after yours would, I think, have been expecting too much. It's not as tho she waited until the last moment to tell you.

DEAR ABBY: Your suggestion to discourage those who are constantly mooching cigarettes — "offer to sell him a pack" was fine, but I have a better idea: In addition to your regular brand, carry a pack of cheap ones that have been made from floor sweepings. They should be hot and strong and certain to irritate the bronchial tubes, lungs, esophagus and everything else in that area. The second time the moocher sees that pack come out of your pocket, he will quit smoking.

W. P. ALEXANDRIA, VA.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 6700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

(Hear Dear Abby Mon. thru Sat. at 9:10 a.m. WKNY-1490)

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A private worry very ably if you listen carefully to what an advisor has to say. A new plan needs careful arranging before you present it to the public. Find the right allies.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Good friends are too busy with own affairs, so don't try to take them away from their work just to join you in recreation. Get busy on something important yourself. Make your life far more worthwhile.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Try not to argue with bigwigs or those who mean a good deal to you in a financial way. Not a good day for strutting, either. Take it easy and show others that you have your feet on the ground.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, he or she will be one of those persons who must be cautious and redneck everything for accuracy instead of acting so much on the spur of the moment, or with little or no forethought, and then the life becomes a successful one. Keep your progeny busy taking educational courses to avoid getting into trouble. Some travel ere could be very fine during the right astrological time, and very educational as well as profitable.

"The Stars impel, they do not your life is largely up to YOU!" compel. What you make of Carroll Righter's Individual Forecast for your sign for November is now ready. ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) It is wise to carry through with routine work carefully instead of going off to new interests today. Make plans for the future and obtain all the information that is necessary.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Without confiding in others, make sure you go after any rebates you think are yours and add to present bank balance. Show diplomacy in clearing up debatable points with others. Act tactfully.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Show that you appreciate alliance with partners and carry through with agreements. A problem crops up that is more complicated than you had expected. Be patient and all works out fine.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Keep rooted to work ahead of you. Get it done and gain the respect of others. Avoid goading fellow workers into some unnecessary argument. This could lead to fierce retaliation methods.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Being content with inexpensive pleasure is wise today, since you are in the mood to spend more than you can afford. Don't neglect important work. Show more devotion than you have in the recent past.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Try not to raise the ire of anyone who dwells with you or you will regret it later on. Show that you respect everyone there. Whatever has been causing trouble should be gotten rid of.

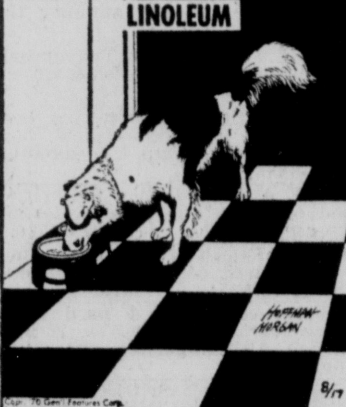

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You are inspired to handle those important outside activities well today. Get an early start. Be careful in travel. Get that vital report out, also. Don't delay any longer.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Taking unnecessary risks could be a disaster but making wise investments is good. Listen to the advice of a clever advisor. Follow it carefully. Avoid boring people in the evening.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A higher-up can make you angry but don't vent it. Keep silent and get the top hand. Some person of whom you are very fond needs your assistance. Give it willingly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You are able to handle

WHY WE SAY LINOLEUM

BURLAP: Frederick Walton discovered in 1863 that linseed oil and burlap together made good patterns for floor covering. He made the word linoleum from the Latin "linum" for flax and "oleum" for oil.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

HAIR HISTORY: (Q.) The letter from the guy who accused you of being a Communist sounded absurd to me. He's gone overboard in his dislike for long hair.

I was honorably discharged from the Marines after a tour of duty in Vietnam. I saw my buddies killed and disabled by the Communists. Nobody opposes communism more than I do. But I wear my hair long.

Some of our nation's greatest men had long hair. George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, and Benjamin Franklin did. Abraham Lincoln, Ulysses S. Grant, and Robert E. Lee had beards. The greatest man in history, Jesus Christ, wore long hair and a beard. Does this guy think of Him as a Communist?

I read your column in Vietnam. So did my buddies. I think you answer your questions extremely well. You show warmth, logic, and leniency. The world should be inhabited by people like you. That guy is a sadist.—Long-Haired Patriot in Philadelphia (Q.) Thank you for your support and for your sensible stand on long hair. I don't know what that young man thinks about Jesus Christ. He didn't say.

VEIN CRY: (Q.) You've got to help me. I'm 14 and I'm I'm starting to have varicose veins. I don't want to tell my mother. How can I get rid of them? None of my friends have them. They're very embarrassing. And sometimes they hurt.

—Bad Legs in Newark, N. J.

(A.) Tell your mother now. She'll find out anyway. She can't help but see them. The quicker she knows the better. You need to see a doctor. He can tell you what is best in your specific case.

Meantime, wear support pantyhose as much as you can. They'll give you comfort, and a cover-up, too.

(Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Only letters that include a stamped, self-addressed envelope will be answered.)

It Was Paar for the Course

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Hope returned to the television wars for another season Monday night and may have alienated the entire women's lib movement. With the help of a large crew of female assistants he undertook to demonstrate what might happen if the ladies really took over.

It was good humored, but not wildly funny or witty, and pretty obvious. There was Hope in a frilly apron working in his kitchen and mourning bygone masculine supremacy in flashbacks we saw him riding in a career-long taxi piloted by cigar-smoking Zsa Zsa Gabor of the Los Angeles Rams. Joyce Brothers was president; Irene Ryan and Minnie Pearl were the Huntley-Brinkley of the day. There was a spoof of "Bonanza," with Imogene Coca, Joanne Worley and Kaye Ballard as the Cartwright girls. Phyllis Diller took over Hope's sponsor, show and some of his lines. The most amusing sketch had Hope in a form-revealing pink satin bunny suit resisting advances by a trio of traveling saleswomen.

Hope's opening monologue is usually the high point of his hour. This time he limited himself to a few mild cracks about plane hijacking and some references to the vice president's use of long and complicated words. "The program was followed on NBC by 'The Jack Paar Diary,' a filmed potpourri of the comedian's impressions and observations in travels around Europe. It was part feature story, part believe-it-or-not, but all based on individual reactions to the off-beat.

There was a segment on a Dutch auto school that teaches drivers to skid safely; an English artist who paints pictures by driving his car over canvas and wet paint. Jack demonstrated how to get out of an automobile that has fallen into deep water.

At the conclusion we received an informal lecture on why the British drive on the left—a hangover from horse days to keep the right hand free for swordplay—and even learned about the Italian tax on cigarette lighters.

Somhow Paar mixed it all together with surprisingly good results, although since retirement from active TV participation, Jack seems to have achieved a slight lord-of-the-manor air when he talks to the television fans.

"Marcus Welby, M.D." on ABC was the most popular program seen on the week starting Sept. 21, according to a new Nielsen report. It covered the seven days in which ABC launched its fall schedule. Second was CBS's broadcast of the film feature, "The Dirty Dozen." "Here's Lucy" on CBS was third, followed by NBC's "Bonanza" and "The Flip Wilson Show," the only new program to reach the top 20 list.

VIETNAM VET CHARGED — Sgt. 1st C. James R. Kerns, an Army Green Beret veteran who served a year in Vietnam, was arrested Saturday near the Washington Monument when he scuffled with a group of youths at a Vietnam victory rally and tore up their Viet Cong flag. Police have charged Kerns, 37, and the father of four, with instigating a riot, a felony. Kerns is shown at his home, in nearby Glenn Echo, Md., Monday, playing chess. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Move Swiftly On Egypt Boss

CAIRO (UPI)—Egypt moved swiftly today to install interim President Anwar Sadat as successor to Gamal Abdel Nasser. Sadat may be sworn in Oct. 17.

ANWAR SADAT

Sadat, a 51-year-old Socialist, was approved by the 150-member central committee of the Arab Socialist Union (ASU), as vice president and one as Egypt's only political party. Monday night after he was proposed by the union's eight-member executive committee, His nomination now goes to the national assembly, which is expected to discuss it today and then give its approval Wednesday.

The final act provided for by the constitution is approval by a majority of the Egyptian voters. Under the timetable laid down by the ASU leaders, the balloting will take place Oct. 15 and Sadat will be sworn in two days later if he is approved as expected.

At the same time, they said politicians who did not support Nasser and his policies during the entire 18 years he was in power until his death of a heart attack Sept. 28 would not be considered for positions in the new government. This would appear to include former Premier Zakaria Mohieddin, who quit the government after the 1967 war with Israel. He, along with Sadat and Ali Sabry, was considered a top contender for the presidency.

Sadat was one of the original members of Nasser's officers group that engineered the overthrow of King Farouk in 1952 and seized power, changing Egypt from a monarchy into a Socialist state. He twice served as vice president and one as speaker of the national assembly. Sadat was vice president when Nasser died and was the man who went on Cairo Radio to announce the death.

Reds Try Pincers on Cambodians

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—North killed 20 civilians and wounded Vietnamese and Viet Cong 40 others. The Communist forces attacked and attempted offensive also included attacks to encircle Cambodian troops at against the outskirts of two Tang Kauk today in an Cambodian provincial capitals. The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese opened the attacks Monday night.

They struck at Kompong Chhnang, 60 miles northwest of Phnom Penh, and Kompong Thom, 80 miles north of the capital. Fighting was still in progress today at those points and near Tang Kauk, 52 miles north of the capital.

Brig. Gen. Phan Moeung, commander of the taskforce, said there were at least four Communist battalions blocking the path of the task force on the north and another working toward the south of Tang Kauk. The South Vietnamese Command announced today the completion of a three-month military operation in Cambodia in which the South Vietnamese killed 453 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops and took 71 prisoners. The campaign cost the South Vietnamese 93 killed and 642 wounded between July 3 and Oct. 4. U.S. spokesmen said two Americans were killed and five wounded in mine and booby trap accidents and four others

First My Lai Trial

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP) — The case is moved to another post, a new panel of officers would have to be named for the court-martial.

The defendant is S. Sgt. David

Mitchell, 30, charged with assault with intent to commit murder by shooting at 30 civilians during the My Lai incident on March 16, 1968. He has pleaded innocent.

Ossie Brown, chief defense lawyer, has protested the presence on the court-martial panel of two colonels—Erwin R. Brigham and Richard G. Trefry—whose appointment was suggested by Lt. Col. Edward Lassiter, the staff judge advocate for the 1st Armored Division.

The division commander was the convening authority for the court-martial.

The military judge for the trial, Col. George R. Robinson of Ft. Sill, Okla., suggested Sept. 29 that a new court-martial panel be named by Maj. Gen. William Desobry, who succeeded Maj. Gen. John K. Boles Jr. as division commander after Boles selected the original panel.

The judge said the first panel was technically qualified, but that it was "unusual" for the staff judge advocate to suggest individual names to the division commander. In order to "avoid the appearance of evil," a new panel should be chosen, he said. It was. But Desobry named the same two colonels to the

Halt Search In Montreal

MONTREAL (AP) — The Canadian government promised extra protection Monday night for foreign diplomats following Canada's first political kidnapping. But the Montreal police temporarily halted their hunt for the Quebec separatists who took Britain's senior trade commissioner in Canada from his Montreal home Monday morning.

A police spokesman said the manhunt was halted after a ransom note said there must be "no police action" against the kidnapers. "A man's life is at stake," the spokesman said. "We don't want to make the terrorists jittery."

The kidnapping of James Richard Cross, 49, was blamed on the terrorist Front de Liberation Quebecois, the FLQ. The organization seeks Quebec's independence and is believed responsible for scores of bombings in Quebec since 1963.

Provincial Justice Minister Jerome Choquette told a news conference the ransom note demanded that a "certain number of alleged political prisoners" be put aboard a plane for Cuba or Algeria along with $500,000 in gold bullion by Wednesday morning.

The federal and provincial governments apparently had reached no decision on what to do about the ransom demand.

Foreign Minister Mitchell Sharp told newsmen in Ottawa Monday night that additional protection will be provided for the more than 1,000 foreign diplomats in Canada.

Cross, who came to Canada in 1968 with his wife and daughter, was kidnapped by men who gained entrance to his home in downtown Montreal on the pretext that they were bringing him a birthday gift. Once inside the house, one man pulled a gun on the maid and two others entered the diplomat's bedroom, handcuffed him and forced him into a waiting car which bore the marking of a local taxi company.

We answer emergency calls by radio, too.

Just like a squad car or taxicab, our trucks are radio-equipped. So we can answer emergency heating calls in short order—24 hours a day. And our men are maintenance experts who can put your furnace back into working order fast.

Better still, though, is a Mobil Heating Oil Service Contract, which means that we will check your oil burner on a regular schedule and also see that you always have the proper amount of heating oil scientifically based on degree days.

We are only a call away, for total home heating comfort.
